NIGHT BEFORE LAST the big financial gentlemen gave the big dinner to George F. Baker, who is 85 years old, and does not know whether he is the second or third richest man in the world.

Mr. Rockefeller knows who is the richest man in the world, and leaves it to Mr. Baker and Mr. Mellon to worry about second place.

THOSE PRESENT testify that a good time was enjoyed by all. The only countertemps occurred when somebody laughed out loud at the wrong time. It was during J. Pierpont Morgan's speech, just as that gentleman was explaining that "there are no safe short cuts to wealth." The gentleman who laughed explained that he was thinking about the war, and all the financial patriots.

IF INTERESTED in real estate, turn aside for a moment from Chicago, Miami, Los Angeles, and consider some real estate with a really ancient record.

Jewish immigrants are pouring into Palestine at the rate of 1000 a month, the immigration being now greater than ever. These Jewish people go there because values of real estate and everything else. There are undoubtedly real estate opportunities in and around Jerusalem as good as any in the wonderfully growing region just south of San Francisco, or north of Palm Beach.

And think of the romance and antiquity in a Palestine deed. What a chance for title searchers.

AMBRINO PORTFOLIO, once a $2 a week errand boy, gives a business worth $7,000,000 to his employes, charging them "not to be clock-watchers."

Mr. Portfolio need not worry. The workers will stop clock watching now that they own the business. To the owner, hours mean profits; to the salaried man, hours mean a nearer approach to freedom.

TO MAKE MEN stop clock watching, interest them in the business. Don't imagine you can change human nature with a moral platitude, for you cannot.

Make industry attractive, and it can solve industrial problems.

Big business will realize that, eventually.

A BUST OF CAESAR has been brought up from the bottom of the Hudson River. It may have lain there for 200 years, and experts pronounce it undoubtedly a genuine ancient work of art. It may also have been chiselled out in Hoboken three months ago and dropped into the river for ageing.

MANUFACTURING ANTIQUES is not new. Michel Angelo tried it with success centuries ago. He made and buried his Greek antiques, then sent them from Florence to a cardinal in Rome.

The latter, delighted, told him he'd nobody know where he had got them up. He, the cardinal, would come and do more digging. They liked antiques, even in those early days.

MICHEL ANGELO confessed that the antiques, marvelously beautiful of course, were his genuine, since he had made them come out of his own imagination. The wise cardinal forgave the deception and befriended the artist.

CONGRESSMAN LONGWORTH, pleasing person, and Republican leader in the House, says the fifteen wicked Republican members that supported La Follette and abandoned the regular Republican ticket in the last election must never, never again be recognized as members of the Republican party.

NEVER IS a short word, with a long meaning. What does Mr. Longworth's father-in-law? He left the regular Republican ticket, ran for himself on a Bull Moose ticket, beat Taft and elected a Democrat. Yet, Theodore Roosevelt was allowed to come back to the Republican fold.

MEN ON REVENUE CUTTER BATTLE TO GET LINE ABOARD SUBMARINE AS BREAKERS CRASH

CUTTER TAMPA STANDING BY THE STRANDED SUBMARINE S-19 OFF NAUSET BEACH, CAPE COD

The cutters Tampa and Acushnet and the navy tug Wandeck stood feast outside the treacherous shoals and their crews made frantic efforts to get lines aboard the submarine. The Tampa gunners tried time after time to place a line across the conning tower, which could be seen above the spray. To shoot a line elsewhere was useless. With the seas reaching the proportions of miniature mountains, communication between the submarine and the coast guard and revenue cutters was all but completely cut off several times.

Alien landlords, unfamiliar with American customs and language, are denounced as a danger to the peace of the community and to property rights by Chairman Eugene C. Hultman of the Commission on the Necessaries of Life, today in his annual report to the Legislature.

Most of the rent hogging complaints, which, during the last two years have been practically confined to property renting for less than $40 a month, he says, can be traced to these "irresponsibles."

Question Boy on Threat Letters

West End Lad, 13, Is Asked About Two Cambridge Cases

Hyman Nathanson, thirteen-year-old West End boy, who has confessed to writing and mailing several death threat letters, was questioned today in Cambridge by Assistant District Attorney Robert Bushnell in the hope that some light may be shed on the threatening letters sent recently to Miss Edith Davenport Fuller and Mrs. Elmer Bright, both of Cambridge.

Nathanson, who came to this country three years ago from Russia, and who in that short period has mastered the English language, has confessed that he wrote the so-called "Red League" death letters to Mrs. Bright and the "Brotherhood of Death" letters, sent to Miss Fuller. Both Miss Fuller and Mrs. Bright reside on Brattle street, Cambridge.

Nathanson makes his home with his aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Goodman, at No. 18 Ashland street, West End.

UNCLE ANGRY.

Goodman today denounced the actions of his nephew, who, he said, had been nurtured in the Goodman home with even more care than was exercised over the Goodmans' own children.

"I have no use for a bad boy in my house," said Goodman. "Let them take him away and do what they will with him."

"I do not think Nathan is all right in his head, and as soon as I can I am going to have him examined by a specialist.

"There was no reason why the boy should do such things. Ever since he came here from Russia he has had all the love and affection that I and my wife bestowed on our own four boys who are now grown up.

"One reason why we adopted him

RESCUES SISTER AT BLAZE

Lexington Man Carries Invalid to Safety; 9 Others Flee Flames

A helpless woman was rescued and nine other persons forced to flee clad only in night clothes when fire swept through the home of Timothy J. Leary in Lexington, today.

John Leary, twenty-year-old youth, fought his way through smoke filled rooms to the bedside of his invalid sister Mary, twenty-eight years old, on the second floor. He carried her in his arms to the street.

James McKenzie, a boarder at the Leary home, at No. 73 Waltham street, awakened to discover his room filled with smoke. He aroused the others, who escaped. The flames, which started in the partitions of the pantry from a cause undetermined, worked their way to the second floor, causing damage estimated at $1,000.

The house is a three-story wooden building.

Miss Normand Left Out of Divorce Action

Los Angeles, Jan. 14.—Two divorce complaints filed against Norman W. Church, wealthy manufacturer, by Georgia W. Church in 1923 and 1924, the second of which named Mabel Normand and drew from the motion picture actress a $500,000 suit and a suit to intervene in the divorce case have been withdrawn and replaced by another complaint, not mentioning Miss Normand and asking for a decree on grounds of desertion, it is announced by counsel for Mrs. Church.

PATROLMAN RESIGNS IN FACE OF CHARGES

Patrolman Timothy Densby of the East Boston police station resigned today with charges pending against him. The police charge that in some mysterious way Lieutenant Martin King of the East Boston station was notified that Densby had lost his gun and badge at Sumner Wharf. He called Densby in and asked where the gun and badge were, the police say, and the officer explained they were at his home. An investigation followed and the police charge that Densby was present at a drinking bout, during which someone took his gun and badge.

OWNER OF CAR HELD BY POLICE

Says He Loaned Friend Machine Found Abandoned by Supposed Thief

Struck by what is believed to have been a stolen automobile, driven at a wild speed, two employes of the Boston Consolidated Gas Company, are dead at the Massachusetts General Hospital.

They were Thomas Deeley of No. 123 Calumet street, Roxbury, and John Doherty, of No. 17 Morton street, Charlestown.

The men were felled by an automobile while at work on a trench at the corner of Charles and Keets streets in the West End.

The machine sped on its way, and was later found abandoned at Joiner street, Charlestown.

Abrahim Wilansky of No. 35 Bickerstaff street, Back Bay, its owner, when questioned by the police, said he loaned the car last night to a friend, W. P. Greeley of No. 545 Medford street, Charlestown, from whom it is believed the car was stolen.

The police are searching for Greeley and meantime are holding Wilansky.

Deeley and Doherty were rushed to the Massachusetts General Hospital, where Doherty was pro-

with the cutters Acushnet and Tampa.

As soon as it became light, the cutters made several attempts to shoot lines aboard the helpless vessel, but they were washed overboard as they had been through the night and the previous day.

The S-18 appeared to have settled deeper in the sand of the bar, and her list to port was more noticeable.

At 5 o'clock, with the wind from the north and the surf having abated considerably, the crews of the Nauset Beach and Cahoon Hollow Coast Guard crews were busy preparing a boat at the north end of the bay.

EFFORTS RENEWED.

They planned to take a line aboard the submarine, sea and wind conditions being favorable, and, if successful, the cutters will attempt to pull the S-18 into deep water at high tide.

Captain Abbott Walker, sixty-year-old "skipper" of the Nauset Beach station, who was the hero of yesterday's attempts to reach the stricken craft, paid a high tribute to officers and men of the S-18.

He said, on boarding the submarine, after his lifeboat had been capsized by the mountainous seas, he found officers and crew uncomplainingly discussing their plight.

They refused his offers to take them off, and Lieutenant Martin sent a reassuring word to relatives and friends of those on board, declaring it would be only a short time before they were safe.

Captain Walker today described to a Boston American reporter his experiences and those of his men in trying to reach the submarine which went aground in the gale and fog of Monday night.

"After I had been notified the submarine had struck," he said, "I got my crew together and we went to the nearest point to the beached craft, about eight miles from our station. When he reached there I saw the sea was running heavy and waited for a time, hoping it would abate.

"We waited an hour for clearer weather, and about 11 o'clock I got it up to my men and decided to risk it. We had been informed the men in the submarine were in great danger, as they were trapped.

"We decided we would take a chance and try to make the submarine to find out just how the men were.

BOARDS SUBMARINE.

"With six men in our boat, we got away, and after a hard battle reached a point about twenty yards aft the submarine, when a huge breaker caught our boat, turned it over and threw us all into the water.

"I never will forget the S-19. I was thrown clear of the lifeboat, but was so exhausted I could barely swim. I had just given up hope when two oars shot towards me and I grabbed them. They held me up until one of my men caught hold of me and dragged me to the lifeboat.

"By clinging to her we managed to get back to shore, but she was pretty well worn up.

"We weren't able to do anything further for some time, but at 6:30 last night we decided to make another try. This time a crew of nine men from the Cahoon Hollow station, in command of Captain Frank R. Mayo of Cahoon Hollow, accompanied us in their boat.

"The sea was a little calmer and both boats made it without accident. When we reached the sub my men pulled close and I hailed two men who were on the bridge.

"They threw me a line and I managed to board the craft and they took me below.

"I was surprised at the sight. The commanding officer and several of the men were sitting around looking over the situation, but not worrying about it. Two other men were sitting on their banks, getting ready to turn in.

"None of the men appeared worried. When they were told I was ready to take them off, Lieutenant Martin said not to fear. He said there was no need to take them off. 'We've been more comfortable here,' he said, 'than the people on land watching us.'

They said they had their meals at the regular time, cooked on an electric stove, and lacked for nothing. All the men were well and in good spirits.

REASSURE RELATIVES.

"Lieutenant Martin and I made an inspection of the submarine and found everything in good condition. No seams had been sprung and the bottom was sound. The men were as comfortable as if at sea under normal conditions.

"I offered three times to take them off, but they refused. Lieutenant Martin sent word to their relatives and friends not to worry. He said it was only a question of a short time when they would be safe."

All night long the cutters Tampa and Acushnet and the navy tug Wandeck stood by just outside the treacherous shoals, keeping their searchlights on the stranded craft.

Communication was kept up by light signals, and at high water, about 4 a. m., attempts were made to get lines to the S-19, but without success.

At midnight, there was only a light wind blowing and the sea were comparatively quiet.

CREW IS CONFIDENT.

The searchlights from the Tampa and Acushnet were playing on the grounded undersea craft, and light "blinkers" from the S-19 were flashing messages to the cutters.

"Everything dry and comfortable aboard. We are in no danger," was the message Lieutenant C. F. Martin, commander of the submarine sent frequently to the boats standing by.

At the Charlestown Navy Yard, officers, with tense faces, crowded the naval communications office, awaiting wireless dispatches from the Tampa and the Acushnet.

The batteries on the imperiled submarine have grown so weak and the outside equipment has been so badly wrecked by the storming seas that her wireless is dead.

FEAR CHLORINE FUMES.

The navy yard fears that with each minute the submarine remains on the shoal the danger of her seams opening grows more acute.

Once the seams are opened and the sea water floods the batteries of the craft a flood of chlorine gas would be unloosed that would spell almost instant death to the men in the submarine.

HAVE FOOD ENOUGH.

The most powerful glasses made it difficult to distinguish the messages wig-wagged from the conning tower of the submarine, although those aboard the submarine could more easily distinguish the messages being sent them.

Aboard the S-19 is enough food for a month. There is sufficient water supply aboard to last for several days. The men have tobacco, and the last report from Lieutenant Martin said that the interior of the boat was very comfortable.

CONTACT DIFFICULT.

Meanwhile, hundreds of autoists from a territory embracing a hundred miles about, are gathered on the wind-swept shore.

The coast guardsmen are hailed as the heroes of the hour. Captain Walker and his men, after being tossed into the sea when their boat capsized, secured dry clothing and in the darkness succeeded in reaching the submarine, just before the full fury of the gale was unleashed. An observer is constantly in the conning tower of the submarine.

HUGHES FORCED OUT BY SENATOR BORAH

(Copyright, 1925, by Universal Service)

London, Jan. 14.—Alleged verbatim reports of conversations between President Coolidge, Secretary of State Hughes and the other members of the Cabinet, and Senator Borah, have been received from the princely leader of a continental Junta now in London.

The man who is in possession of these reports received the writer in his palatial West End home, where he made the following statement:

"Nobody who knows the truth, and there are many on this side as in America, is fooled for a minute about the need which Secretary Hughes feels for money. His resignation from the highest position in the land is not due to that.

POLICY FALLEN DOWN.

"His resignation is due to the fact that his foreign policy, especially as regards to Russia, has fallen down.

"President Coolidge is averse to depending wholly upon one man's opinion, and prefers a consensus of opinion of the members of the Senate when it comes to foreign affairs, and a vast majority of the Senate are and have for a long time been antagonistic to Secretary Hughes.

"Therefore the real importance in the announced resignation of Secretary Hughes and the appointment of Ambassador Kellogg as Secretary of State is that Borah, in the President's intention to henceforth have the State Department conducted according to the wish of the majority of the Senate and not according to the personal bias of the holder of the portfolio.

"My information is direct and authentic. The whole business came to a head less than three weeks ago when Secretary Hughes had a private conversation with President Coolidge. At that time the President asked Secretary Hughes what he had to say about the new treaty which Japan has made with Russia on a treaty, the consequences of which cannot even be fairly guessed.

"Secretary Hughes said that no treaty with Russia could mean anything, because Russia is a negligible quantity. This was the substance of the first conversation.

BORAH SEES CABINET.

"Afterwards Senator Borah asked permission to meet the Cabinet as a whole, particularly with a view of putting certain questions to Secretary Hughes.

"When Senator Borah in the presence of the Cabinet asked Secretary Hughes what no planned to do in case of war with Japan—always bear in mind that Japan now has a secret agreement with the Russian government with close cooperation and to supply naval vessels with oil and fuel and civil populations with food—the reply of Secretary Hughes was that they were talking nonsense and that war with Japan is impossible.

"Subsequent to this meeting President Coolidge summoned Secretary Hughes and told him that Senator Borah's views represented the views of a majority of the Senate, and suggested that the secretary either change his viewpoint or do the obvious thing.

"Thereupon Secretary Hughes forwarded to the President the suggestion that in view of his past declarations and his own need for resuming his personal finances, the best thing he could do would be to resign and make room for a successor who would fall in line with the new order of allowing the Senate to dominate the policy of the United States in foreign affairs."

Report of Coolidge-Hughes Break Rouses Washington

Washington, Jan. 14. — Universal Service dispatches from London indicating that Secretary of State Hughes had resigned from the cabinet because of differences with President Coolidge over the question of Soviet Russia were received with unusual interest in officials circles here today.

Senator Borah, chairman of the foreign relations committee, refused to either affirm or deny that he had conferred before the cabinet to demand a "showdown" on the question of the recognition of the Soviet and that Secretary Hughes' unalterable opposition to such a move led to the differences with the President which finally resulted in his resignation.

The full contents of the London dispatch was read to the Senator, but he declined any comment whatever.

It is no secret in Washington that Hughes and Borah are at cross purposes on nearly every question of foreign policy, but reports that the President had taken Borah's side on the Soviet question came as a complete surprise.

Secretary Hughes will return to the Capitol today and it is possible that he may throw further light on the subject at that time.

Universal Service dispatches from Washington following the White House announcement that Hughes would retire from the cabinet March 4 intimated that there was more behind the secretary's decision to resign than the explanation that he wished to uncoup his personal fortuna.

ALL POWERS SIGN ALLIED DEBT PACT

Paris, Jan. 14 (AP).—All the powers represented in the interallied financial conference today signed the "agreement regarding distribution of the Dawes annuities."

Rumania and Italy signed with reservations.

Liquidation of the American damage claims to $350,000,000 was stricken out. This was the only change made in the text of the agreement before its signature.

Everybody seems satisfied that order has been evolved from chaos at the expense of the least possible sacrifice to each of the participating nations.

Even the smaller powers, notably Rumania, whose situation is undeservedly hard, go away with the conviction that their interests will be taken care of and that means will be found to satisfy their requirements in the not too distant future.

The convention is a carefully drawn document in French and English, and contains twenty-seven clauses divided into five chapters.

RENT GOUGERS

struction commands rents for more than $40.

TOO MUCH, SAYS HULTMAN.

He is satisfied, he declares, that the great majority of the people cannot afford to pay as high as this.

"Paying excessive rents result in disastrous consequences to the families concerned and when this condition applies to a large number of families, the commercial prosperity of the community is seriously affected," Hultman says.

For the continued protection of this class of citizens, he recommends the extension of the emergency rent laws for another year.

Hultman urges the value of thrift and recommends to communities the plan adopted by the Gardner Chamber of Commerce in helping its citizens to own homes.

MUST REDUCE PRICES.

Turning to the fuel problem, Hultman notes with satisfaction an increasing interest being shown by the householders in saving on coal bills.

The consumption of hard coal, which cost the consumers of the State delivered, about $20,000,000 a year, is falling off, he finds.

"In order to hold their markets the anthracite operators must reduce prices," Hultman says.

He recommends that legislation be enacted authorizing the Governor to designate an emergency fuel administrator.

Calling attention to the great increase in the margin between the price of gasoline which the refiner obtains and the price paid by the consumer, Hultman states that a further study of this important industry should be made.

RISE IN LAST 6 MONTHS.

"Last year," he declares, "consumers in this State spent about $40,000,000 for gasoline. It now costs about as much to distribute gasoline within the borders of Massachusetts as it costs to produce crude oil, transport it thousands of miles and refine it into gasoline."

Until recently, he adds, the distributing cost within the State was a comparatively small percentage of the price paid by the consumer.

Hultman also recommends that the cost of living figure be continued to be collected and published as the possession of such knowledge by the public tends to prevent unnecessary profiteerings between capital and labor.

Retail prices of commodities in common use, Hultman finds, is today about 61 per cent. higher than they were in 1913. While there was a slight downward tendency in the first part of 1924, rising prices in the latter part of the year offset the gain. Today, prices are at substantially the same level as a year ago, he declares.

BELIEVE YOUTH WAS SLAIN BY BOOTLEGS

Newport, R. I., Jan. 14.—Leon Rose was murdered and did not meet death by falling from a train.

An autopsy upon the body of the fifteen-year-old youth proved beyond doubt, police say, that the boy came to death by human hands.

Dr. W. A. Sherman and Dr. Charles W. Stewart, who performed the autopsy, reported the skull almost completely shattered. The injuries to the skull and the position in which the body was discovered, dispelled in the opinion of the examiners and police, any accident theory.

A 32-pound cement building block, found near the boy's body by the railroad tracks on Long Wharf, was undoubtedly used to crush the boy's skull. Upon it were discovered blood stains and matted hair.

Police lean toward two theories. The first is that Rose was killed by rum runners or hi-jackers because he had seen too much and they were afraid he would talk. The second is that the boy was killed by a maniac.

The police definitely established that Newport was recently the scene of a big landing by rum runners. Five trucks, they have learned, were used in transporting liquor from Newport to its inland destination.

Did Rose witness the landing? Did he learn where the liquor was being taken? These are questions investigators seek to answer.

Three distinct sets of footprints leading from the rear entrance of a store close to where the body was found are clews in the case.

SOPHIE TUCKER, STAGE STAR, IS BANKRUPT

New York, Jan. 14.—The "sophistication of the stage" failed to prevent one of its bright stars from making a number of unwise investments and, as a result, Sophie Tucker, of "coon-shouting" fame, has filed a voluntary petition of bankruptcy.

Sophie Tucker

Sophie's liabilities are $13,799, while she lists her assets as $27,707, notes to the extent of $5,000, which she claims are worthless, are included in the latter amount. Besides the notes she records 700 shares of preferred and 700 shares of common stock of the Gasoline Corporation and 400 shares of the capital stock of the National Petroleum Company of Texas.

DUTY CONTINUED ON CARILLON BILLS

Washington, Jan. 14.—The House Ways and Means Committee reaffirmed its decision not to recommend changes in the tariff at this session by tabling a dozen bills to authorize importation duty free of carillon bells for use in various American churches, most of them in New England.

PICKETS ON GUARD AT FALL RIVER MILLS

Fall River, Jan. 14.—Picket lines have been established by the hundreds of striking weavers, dyers and bleachers about the Fall River textile mills.

The latest move of the Textile Workers' Union has brought a general realization of the seriousness of the situation which confronts the textile industry as a result of the strike called on account of unsatisfactory wage conditions.

The union pickets have so far confined their activities to the mills affected by the strike, but unless operators settle with the strikers within the next day or two, the picket line will be extended throughout the entire textile industry.

DIRECTOR ARRIVES.

Organizer Horace A. Riviere of Manchester, N. H., is expected to take charge of the strike situation for the United Textile Workers, having been ordered to the scene by International President Thomas F. McMahon.

The Kerr plant was the first mill to be picketed. The dyers and bleachers in this plant, heretofore unorganized, formed a local union this week and these members are maintaining a close picket of the plant and will continue to do so until the strike is ended.

So far there have been no clashes between the union pickets and the employes who are working, but extra police have been added to the mill district forces in anticipation of trouble.

Nora Bayes Plans Fifth Wedding

NORA BAYES

"There's luck in odd numbers."

Fingers crossed, Nora Bayes whispered that to a newspaper reporter a long time ago—just talking about superstitions.

And just to make the score odd again, they say, Nora has crossed off the "4" on her matrimonial score and written "5." Beside it she has written the name of a wealthy London diamond merchant named Freeland, whom she married on her recent tour abroad, 'tis reported.

The report of the famous actress' latest marital venture leaked out today despite the precautions taken to keep it secret. Not even among the Broadway satellites who paled with Nora during her New York run after returning from England, was the secret known.

It slipped out today, though, and Nora was irked.

Slanc A reporter's Grecian nose was nearly wrecked as the door of Nora's taxicab grazed it by one degree.

She won't talk to anything, Nora says.

However, Nora's own words still stand, despite her change of heart. When she secured her last divorce she said, "Never again!" and started adopting children.

Her second last trip abroad netted a five-haired youngster of two years named Peter. Two others, Leonora and Norman had already joined her household.

"Most people coming back bring animals and dogs," said Miss Bayes, "but I'm strong for children." The youngsters accompanied her on her tour, attended by a fleet of servants and valets.

On the eve of her marriage to Lew Cody, the popular actress expressed her belief that the man should do the announcing.

"He has little enough chance to say anything important once the yoke is slipped on him."

Among Miss Bayes' former husbands are Dressing Jack Norworth, Harry Clark and Lew Cody.

URGES BAN ON WINE FOR RELIGIOUS SERVICES

Denver, Jan. 14 (Universal)—Recommendation for a law to prohibit possession and distribution of intoxicating liquors for sacramental purposes, made by Governor Morley, threatens to stir up a State-wide religious strife.

The recommendation, included in proposals for legislation by the new administration, follows:

"Elimination from the prohibition law of the right to obtain, possess or dispense intoxicating liquors for sacramental uses. Experience shows that this exception is too often flagrantly abused."

INDIANS OBJECT TO EXPORTING MONKEYS

London, Jan. 14.—The native extremist newspapers of India have started a campaign against the wholesale exportation of monkeys, which has reached remarkable dimensions in recent months, according to the Daily Telegraph's Calcutta correspondent, who predicts that this propaganda will arouse angry feelings among the Hindus, millions of whom worship monkeys.

PROBE OF FAILURE TO FIND BLAZE PLANNED

The Boston Underwriters' Association is planning an investigation to discover why a protective company and fire fighting apparatus returned to their quarters after an automatic fire signal summoned them to No. 34 Summer street without discovering the fire.

The fire, which burned unchecked for more than half an hour, finally did more than $25,000 damage to the Peabody Furniture Company and the Kennedy Company, occupants of the block.

FIND NO FIRE.

Protective 1 and an engine and ladder company responded when the first automatic fire signal sounded. The signal came from the second floor of the building, occupied by the furniture company.

The members of the protective company decided it was a false alarm and drove away. Thirty-eight minutes later, when the second floor of the building was a raging furnace, the second automatic alarm sounded, and within a few minutes four alarms had more than half a hundred pieces of apparatus on the scene.

The fire started in the upholstery section of the furniture store. The fire gained such headway after the protective and firemen returned to their quarters that an explosion blew out most of the second floor windows about the time the second automatic alarm was sounded.

FOUR ALARMS ORDERED.

Fire Chief Sennott, who took command of the fire, ordered the fourth alarm turned in, fearing the fire would spread throughout the congested business district.

The firemen confined the fire to the second floor and a portion of the third.

The Kennedy Company, men's outfitters, occupies the first floor of the building. This firm suffered a heavy loss from water and smoke.

Stephen L. Sharpe, a member of Protective 1, was cut under the left eye by a piece of flying glass. He was treated at the Haymarket Relief Hospital.

JOHN O'BRIEN, 84, NOTED PHILANTHROPIST, DIES

John O'Brien, who has been active all his life in charitable enterprises and fraternal circles, died at his home, 167 Beacon street. He was 84 years old.

Born in Ireland, he came to this country at an early age, and was graduated from the Brunner School and Holy Cross College. During his life, which was marked by numerous charitable acts, he was particularly interested in St. Mary's Infant Asylum. He attracted widespread attention some time ago when he donated a playground in Sharon to the Y. M. C. A. and the Knights of Columbus jointly.

Dinner to Precede Dance at Somerset for Debut of Winifred Hathaway

By Betty Alden

THE DANCE WHICH MRS. Curtis Hathaway gives tomorrow evening at the Somerset Hotel, keeps the social pinwheel gaily awhirl and is the second large affair so far this week of debutante flavor.

IT is to be the formal presentation of the bud daughter, Winifred Hathaway, and she and some thirty girls and ushers are having a dinner at the Somerset just in advance of the dance.

MRS. HATHEWAY, too, will be hostess at the same hotel and at the same hour for a smaller circle of her own intimates. Curtis Hathaway, Jr., is head usher, and Calvin Sachs and John Lancaster are second in command.

THE bud-elect is a Winsor girl, and during school days there she demonstrated a fine flair for executive ability, especially in philanthropic work. She is of the proverbial Junior League coterie. The family has a Summer home down in the bewitchful Litchfield Hills in Connecticut.

RECENT rabies from London brought Boston's smart set news of the marriage of, William Tucker Lindesay and Marjory Cross. Mr. Lindesay is the son of the Hon. Archibald Lionel Lindesay and Mrs. Lindesay, of Manchester-by-the-Sea, and nephew to the Earl of Lindesay.

HE graduated from Groton and in their studies at Oxford University in England. He is a member of the Scots Guards, one of the regiments attached to the person of the King, and the ceremonial was celebrated in the Guards' Chapel, with all the colorful trappings of a service bridal.

THE bride is the daughter of Lady Hawke of Yorke, and the late Arthur J. G. Cross. The senior Lindesays went over from their North Shore home for the wedding. Mrs. Lindesay was Ethel Tucker of New York, a daughter of the William Austin Tuckers, and the bridegroom when on the side spent much of his time at their home in New York.

MISS POLLY WEBSTER

Entertains the bud set this evening in honor of Miss Catharine Robb, the affair a dinner-dance at the Webster house in Dartmouth street.

RICHARD PLATT'S afternoons of music, for which he has just sent out cards, commence this Winter on January 21 and continue through the early Spring. Mr. Platt has a charmingly appointed studio in his Lime street house and entertains delightfully each season.

Much Fine Music to Delight Guests

FOR the first afternoon Olga Frothingham and Katharine Gray will preside over the tea cups and there will be much fine music to delight the guests. Miss Gray is a daughter of the James Cunningham Grays, and played the comedy role of "Mrs. Smith" in the recent Junior League theatricals.

OLGA FROTHINGHAM is one of the talented daughters of Dr. and Mrs. Langdon Frothingham, and has been prominent in the younger set ever since her debut in the Winter of 1923. Her sister, Elsie, a bud of the Winter, is the Junior League vice-chairman.

MR. PLATT is one of the young musicians of note in Boston and his afternoons of tea and music have long been a Winter feature for the smart artistic factions. For some years he had an apartment at the top of Chestnut street in the Burfel house.

THE scores of friends of Miss Dorothy Forbes are watching with great pleasure her steady return to health and vigor up in the sparkling atmosphere of Saranac Lake. She's putting in the Winter there, just as she has done for a year or two, with interludes during the Summer at the family's Maine Coast home at Dark Harbor, on Islesboro.

MISS FORBES is one of the really handsome daughters of Mr. and Mrs. J. Murray Forbes of Boston and Milton. The last philanthropy of the score in which she had been prominent was an appeal for the Red Cross, which she and the genial "Jimmy Jackson" put over in fine financial fashion.

SPEAKING of Mr. Jackson, his mother, Mrs. James Jackson, and his wife, Mrs. "Jimmie, Jr.," were two of the scrumptiously costumed matrons at the assembly. The younger wore sapphire blue velvet with a bandeau of diamonds in her hair, and the senior matron, whose patrician beauty is a byword in smart circles, was in silvery white brocade.

MUSIC lovers have a feast in store this afternoon at the musicale staged in Mrs. Phineas Sprague's town house in Commonwealth avenue, Boris Saslawsky comes straight from his New York triumphs and will sing a group of Slavic folk songs and Russian ballads. The affair has its philanthropic motive, of course, this time the Faeun and Garden Association.

JUDGE LINDSEY SAYS KLAN OPPOSES HIM

Denver, Jan. 14—That the Ku Klux Klan of Colorado was making a retaliatory fight against him in its introduction in the Colorado Legislature of bills to abolish the Denver Juvenile and Family Court was charged in a statement issued by Judge Ben B. Lindsey.

Society Notes

GRETCHEN BROWN, blonde and charming bud daughter of that youthful matron, Mrs. Jonathan Brown, Jr., goes down to Pittsburgh Friday for a round of visits and will be maid of honor at a large and important wedding there.

Miss Brown belongs to the favored Junior League coterie and was presented at a large ball a month or so ago, when hundreds of gold and silver balloons made an unusual and stunning decorative motif in the beautiful Hotel Somerset ballroom. Mrs. Evelyn Arnold Harrison, the onetime Elizabeth Bigelow of Boston, is a brilliant Baltimore hostess this Winter, as I hear from the Southern city. As daughter of the Prescott Bigelows of Boston and Pepperellana, N. H., and later as Mrs. Frank Martin, she moved blithely in her choice Boston and Baltimore circles.

Her marriage to Mr. Harrison followed a widowhood of some years. She and he were guests at the dance Mr. and Mrs. Jason Fisher, Jr., gave recently at the Green Spring Kennels near Baltimore in honor of Mary McDonald Moffitt. The engagement of Mr. Harrison's brother, Philip Haxall Harrison, to Mary Elizabeth Wright is a recent announcement.

Bostonians who have been in New York recently for weddings, theatres and the omnipresent tour of the shops include Mrs. Allan Forbes and Mr. Forbes, who put up at the Hotel Chatham. Daniel de Mesnard has recently been a guest also.

CHALIAPIN IS STILL SUPREME

Great Russian Basso Enthralls Syphmony Hall Audience

Feodor Chaliapin magnificent Russian basso, heralded by his enthusiastic managents as the world's greatest singer, gave a postponed concert at Symphony Hall last night. The audience was not as large as he deserved, but considering that Bostonians will be able to hear him at the opera a fortnight hence, it was probably as large as might be expected.

Chaliapin is not the world's greatest singer, but he is most certainly one of the world's greatest actors. That is why he is always at a disadvantage off the operatic stage, which is his proper field. His voice is still a marvelous organ in its prodigal wealth, but Chaliapin has such a genius for histrionics that he can not and will not be bound by the ordinary rules and conventions of the song.

Not that after all, while there are many singers who sing more artistically than he, there is only one Chaliapin who can infuse into a few bars of music and a few words such concentrated expression, such marvelous ability for characterization.

A couple of measures, and Chaliapin has set the stage. A few more and he has the audience enthralled in his toils. Yet a few more and his story is done. Yes, there is only one Chaliapin, and he still reigns supreme.

The singer was assisted by Alexis Kosloff, violinist, and Max Rabinovitch, pianist, who were heard in solo numbers. All three were applauded a good deal.

'GHOST VOICES' TRACED TO OLD PHONOGRAPH

Hill, N. H., Jan. 14—The ghostly voices on the air, coming across the river from Kheelike Hills, emanated from an old phonograph, operated by four practical jokers.

While superstitious townsmen were gathering in the cold each night, listening to the snatches of song and the voices carried indistinctly on the air, the jokesmiths across the river were having the time of their lives manipulating the phonograph horn and the needles to produce the eerie effect that sent chills down the spines of the auditors.

Radio "fans" were also among those gathered each night to hear the uncanny sounds.

The news of the phenomena spread throughout the countryside and many visitors came from distant points. It was generally believed the sounds were produced by some natural forces collecting and broadcasting the radio waves from distant broadcasting stations.

Clayton Eaton, local war veteran, finally admitted he was the head of the band of jokers that had thought out the hoax. With him were Christian Ackerman, Roy Colby and Leonard Kennedy.

The whole town is waiting for an opportunity to get the joke back on the "hoaxers."

New York, Jan. 14.—Warren G. Harding, 2d, of Marion, O., nephew of the late President Harding, has entered upon a marine career as purser on the steamship Carenco of the Export Steamship Corporation.

Young Harding, who is said to be twenty-five years old, came here from Marion and was signed on the Carenco by Henry Hebermann, president of the steamship company, who was a close friend of President Harding. The Carenco sailed Saturday for Malta.

4 GOOD TESTS OF ECLIPSE TOTALITY

Scientific American Suggests Methods for Observers to Follow January 24

Thousands of observers will try to locate exactly the northern and southern edges of the territory from which the light of the sun will be completely cut off during the eclipse. The American Astronomical Society has asked everyone near the edges to try and do this and has told how to do it. It is very simple.

All that is needed is to say whether certain things were seen or not.

One is whether some bit of the edge of the sun was always visible. There may always be a bright segment somewhere on the edge so that there was no time during which the sun is not completely covered.

Another test is obtained by saying whether that wonderful fringe of light called the corona was visible all round the sun at any time. It may look about twice as big as the dark shadow of the moon if it is seen and it is quite different from the glare which usually surrounds the sun.

A third test is for those who are on a hill or the top of a high tree and watching what buildings or landmarks never were in shadow and those which the shadow crossed.

A fourth test is for those inside the shadow. They are asked to tell by a stop watch, or by counting, how many seconds the sun was completely covered.

Everyone who answers any of these questions is asked to tell just where he is and when.

Lines of boy scouts, school children and others are being organized in various places along the track. They are to be placed at regular intervals for a mile or so and in the north and south of the edge predicted by the astronomer who announces that the prediction may be this amount wrong.

Anyone who wants to find just where the predicted edge is in his neighborhood and cannot get the information otherwise can write to the Scientific American, New York city, or to the Yale Observatory, New Haven, Ct. The information will be sent by mail at once.

EMERSON GIRLS FORM UNIQUE NEW CLUB

The Loyal Daughters of Emerson Club, believed to be one of the most unique college organizations in the country, has just been organized at Emerson College. Its membership is composed of daughters of Emerson graduates—the second generation of Emersonians.

It has only six members, four of whom are enrolled in the student body and two of whom are members of the faculty. Five of the six are Greater Boston girls.

The members of this unique organization are: Mary and Adele Dowling, faculty members, and daughters of Sarah Adele Neill Dowling of South Boston, Emerson, '87; Ernestine Kirby, daughter of Ernestine Witherell Kirby of Revere, Emerson, '97; Alice Shaw, daughter of Nella Countryman Shaw of Rockford, Ill., Emerson, '97; Juliet Phillips, daughter of Anna Mills Phillips of Jamaica Plain, Emerson, '93, and Rachel Batson, daughter of Elizabeth Whitehead Batson of Brookline, Emerson, '09.

R. H. WHITE CO. VETERANS DINE

Veteran members of an old Boston business family—the Long Service Club of the R. H. White Company—gathered at dinner, feted themselves, extolled as living examples of faithfulness to duty, listened to a program of entertainment, were awarded diplomas and emblems of years of service, laughed, joked and reminisced together, sang "Auld Lang Syne" as only old-timers can sing that beloved song, and went home chattering gayly like a group of excited "kids."

More than 150 men and women employes of the great department store were present at the second annual business meeting and dinner of the Long Service Club.

The feast was served in the cafeteria of the store which had been attractively decorated for the occasion.

While the veteran men and women of the Organization dined bounteously on chicken and "fixin's," high-class vaudeville performers from the Keith circuit entertained them.

A group of songs by the R. H. White Liberty Chorus, known to shoppers and to New England radio audiences, drew great applause from the veterans of their own "gang."

Throughout the evening the "family" spirit prevailed.

Major Francis W. Tully was the toastmaster.

When George B. Johnson, president of the company, arose to greet his co-workers, the "high spot" of the festivities was reached. Cheers for "our boss" were hearty and prolonged.

President Johnson, honorary president of the club, took advantage of the occasion to thank those who, for years, have assisted in the growth of the R. H. White Company, and in the maintenance of its high standards of honesty and square dealing in trade.

MUSCLE SHOALS WHIRLPOOL IN THE SENATE

Administration Strength Expected to Be Given to Underwood Bill

Washington, Jan. 14 (I.N.S.).—Muscle Shoals legislation was ensnared in another parliamentary tangle in the Senate today.

After a whirlwind of balloting, accomplishing no final results, the Senate had before it again the Underwood Muscle Shoals bill previously rejected by a 13 majority.

The senate, in its balloting, went around a circle, passing bills it previously rejected, and found itself today in exactly the same position it was last week when the Underwood substitute was adopted.

Even adoption of the Underwood bill for the second time would not immediately relieve the confusion. Should it pass, the Jones bill slightly changed, will be reintroduced, and should that succeed Senator Norris (R.), Nebraska, said he would again bring to the measure for governmental operation.

Senator Jones (R.), Washington, said he would revive his bill to create a commission of five, instead of three, to draft recommendations to Congress for disposition of Muscle Shoals.

The only effective step of the voting whirlpool would be for enough Senators to concentrate on one bill long enough to require all attacks to modify it, either by amendment or substitute.

Indications today were that this concentration of strength would come from administration ranks on the Underwood bill, now said to be approved by President Coolidge as the most expedient way to get Muscle Shoals legislation in conference between the two houses, where amendments suitable to him can be made.

"BEN HUR" COMPANY HAS TO QUIT ITALY

Rome, Jan. 14 (I.N.S.).—The American Motion Picture Company producing the spectacle "Ben Hur" has become entangled in the political discussions in Italy and will return to the United States, according to a statement issued today by the company.

"Due to the uncertainty of conditions both political and social, the company will return to America January 17," the announcement said.

London, Jan. 14.—Information which reached London today regarding the departure of the film company producing "Ben Hur" appeared to have been censored. It was sent to Rome from Los Angeles by the Metro-Goldwyn Corporation. The star is Ramon Navarro and the director Fred Niblo.

GUN-TOTER'S BOAST TO COST HIM HIS LIFE

Rochester, N. Y., Jan. 14 (I.N.S.).—His desire to show a girl he was a gun toter will have a fatal climax today for Elliott Cohen, 21.

Cohen was calling on Anna Scharfstein, 18, at her home. He boasted of carrying a gun and pulled the weapon from his pocket to prove it. The revolver went off, the bullet penetrating Cohen's temple. He is dying.

VAUDEVILLE ACTRESS VOLUNTARY BANKRUPT

New York, Jan. 14.—Sophie Tucker, vaudeville actress, has filed a voluntary petition of bankruptcy in United States District Court.

She listed $13,700 as liabilities and $2,707.40 as assets. Notes representing $15,000, however, are part of the "assets" and these notes, she claimed are worthless.

STATE TO HIRE COUNSEL FOR PHONE FIGHT

Public Utilities Board Will Protect Public in Rate Hearings

Special counsel will be retained by the Department of Public Utilities to advise the department and also protect the interests of the public in the forthcoming hearings on the proposed increase in telephone rates.

The plans of the Department of Public Utilities in handling the application of the telephone company for higher rates are partly revealed in a report of a special committee of the City Solicitors' and Town Counsels' Association. This committee was assigned the task of selecting the best means for having competent legal representation at the hearings.

The report is in part as follows:

"Your committee had several conferences with the Department of Public Utilities. As a result of these conferences the department plans to retain competent counsel to be approved by the Attorney-General and acceptable to you and paid out of the funds of the Commonwealth."

NEW PUZZLE CONTEST MONDAY

puzzle of the week's sextet. Mark the date—January 19.

Each week the Boston American will offer its crossword puzzle fans $250. The week's set of six puzzle will be expected in the hands of the Puzzle Editor by the close of business the following Wednesday. The list of winners of the previous week's contest will be posted in the Saturday issue.

If you don't snatch off the capital prize of $100 one week it's there for you to seek the following week.

The weekly puzzles will call for no great mental exertion. Steady stride, that is all. And steady application. Heaps of diversion, incentive to keep the old cerebellum in keen trim and a chance to make real money.

In the meantime let the fans engaged in the thirty-day contest keep to the grind until the last set of the thirty-day marathon is published this Saturday. To speed up the contest two sets of puzzles are published today, and two more Friday. All it means is a little more time each day.

Try to get the thirty puzzles out of the way Saturday, together with the letter telling why you like crossword puzzles, so that you can get started on the weekly cross track meet. Don't wait to hear the results on the thirty-day contest but sail right in on the new game. Don't feel someone wins money is offered you, especially in any instance like the Boston American $250 weekly contest.

Nothing stiff about the rules for the weekly contest.

All you're asked to do is:

Solve each day's puzzle as it comes along.

Mail the packet of six solved puzzles to the Puzzle Editor at the end of the week.

Have them in his hands by the close of business Wednesday night of the following week.

Send along with each packet of solved puzzles a letter of not more than 200 words telling what you have gained through the Boston American Crossword Puzzles. In the event of a tie between two contestants the neater and more legibly written letter will stand a better chance of taking the prize.

WOMAN 'PICKUPS' LEAD BAY STATE GIRLS INTO SLAVERY

ARLINGTON GIRL'S EXPERIENCE IS WARNING TO HER SISTERS

Inventor Perplexed by Odd Pictures Received by Radio

New Haven, Jan. 14.—Strange and mysterious operations by a recently perfected radio-photograph machine were described to members of the electrical engineering department at Yale University by D. C. F. Jenkins, president of the Jenkins Laboratories of Washington, D. C.

Dr. Jenkins said he set up his receiving set in his laboratory a short time ago and left it in a condition to receive pictures for several hours. In Dr. Jenkins' machine the pictures are produced on a roll of films which pass slowly through the set.

When the roll of films was developed on it were found a series of strange characters and seven distinct likenesses of a man.

According to Mrs. Cross and her ...ghter, the Dorchester woman, ...was about thirty-five years of age, ...d she was a writer for a New ...rk magazine.

She informed pretty Virginia that ...e liked her clean-cut appearance ...d demeanor. Several times each ...ek she visited the theatre, dropped ...to a rear seat and conversed ...roughout the performance with the ...rl.

PARTY ARRANGED.

Miss Cross gave the Dorchester woman a Cambridge telephone number and address and received several letters from her in which she was invited to go to the woman's home ...n dress "in a fine black dress" in preparation for a "party" in Arlington where the pretty girl was to "keep her eyes open, her mouth shut and refrain from showing surprise at anything she saw."

The party did not materialize for Virginia for the very good reason that Mrs. Cross marched her daughter to Superintendent Crowley's office before the night of the "big time."

The girl also told the police that her strange woman friend suggested that she might make her acquainted with the scion of a wealthy Boston family with a Summer place at Buzzards Bay.

The man mentioned is the son of the widow of a prominent attorney.

FRIENDS HAIL VICTORY FOR PROF. LEBON

Congratulations in profusion are pouring in today on Charles P. Lebon, noted teacher of French at the Boston English High School, who has won the first round in his court proceedings to compel the Boston school committee to pay him a pension provided by law.

Prof. Lebon

Judge Zottoli in Municipal Court made a finding of $458.58 in favor of the retired teacher and against the school committee, this sum representing the unpaid pension from the time the act was passed by the Legislature until the action was started in the court.

After serving more than thirty years at the English High, Mr. Lebon was retired. At the time a meager pension of $600 a year was provided, but shortly afterward, an act was passed by the Legislature increasing pensions for similar services to $1,800 a year.

When it was decided that Mr. Lebon did not come under the provisions of the $1,800 act, on account of previous retirement, a bill was passed by the Legislature extending the more liberal pension provisions to the veteran.

Although the counsel of the school committee passed on the validity of the act, the school committee refused to make the payments.

Under the present conditions it is likely that Mr. Lebon will have to bring action in Municipal Court, each month to get the $100 pension which the school committee withholds from him.

36,000 Boston 'Dead' Letters in New York Postoffice

New York, Jan. 14.—More than 36,000 "dead" letters bearing a Boston postmark have been received at the office here. Backwater from the Christmas torrents of mail in the form of such letters has risen to a record volume in the New York postoffice. Approximately 650,000 dead letters and 16,000 parcels have come in improperly addressed or not addressed at all, since December 20.

MOTHER!

Clean Child's Bowels

"California Fig Syrup" is Dependable Laxative for Sick Children

Hurry Mother! A teaspoonful of "California Fig Syrup" now will sweeten the stomach and thoroughly clean the little bowels and in a few hours you have a well, playful child again. Even if cross, feverish, bilious, constipated or full of cold, children love its pleasant taste. It never cramps or overacts. Contains no narcotics or soothing drugs.

Tell your druggist you want only the genuine "California Fig Syrup" which has directions for babies and children of all ages printed on bottle. Mother, you must say "California." Refuse any imitation.

Getting Skinnier Every Day

Hollows in Cheeks and Neck Growing Deeper Every Week

Something Must Be Done and Done Right Now—Quick

Ask Your Druggist for McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets

Tens of thousands of thin, run-down men—yes, and women too—are getting discouraged—are giving up all hope of ever being able to take on flesh and look healthy and strong.

All such people can stop worrying and start to smile and enjoy life right now, for McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets, which any druggist will tell you all about, are putting flesh on hosts of skinny folks every day.

One woman, tired weak and discouraged, put on 15 pounds in five weeks and now feels fine.

We all know that Cod Liver Oil is full of vitalizing, flesh producing vitamines, but many people can't take it because of its horrible smell and fishy taste and because it often upsets the stomach.

McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets are as easy to take as candy and if any thin person don't gain at least 5 pounds in 30 days your druggist will give you your money back—and only 60 cents for 60 tablets. Ask any live pharmacist anywhere.

But be sure to get McCoy's, the original and genuine, and bear in mind that for thin, sickly kids they are wonderful—a very sickly child—age 9, gained 12 pounds in 7 months.

McCOY'S ORIGINAL AND GENUINE 60 Tablets 60 Cents

You bet! He'll be there Saturday

HE'S always on the job for the big play-day of the week; and for the first bell every morning at school.

No stay-at-home days for him on account of sore throat.

Because he and his mother have learned how to keep sore throat away—during the coldest days of winter, as well as during the slushy, flu-days of early spring.

Just a simple precaution does the work. And that is the systematic use of Listerine, the safe antiseptic, as a daily mouth-wash and gargle.

So often it will ward off a bad case of sore throat and the more serious ills that may follow.

Sore throat is a nuisance—and, usually, it is the danger signal of other troubles that start with throat infections.

Listerine, the safe antiseptic, will put you and your family on the safe side. So do not be without it. It has dozens of other uses—all described on the circular that comes wrapped around each bottle.—Lambert Pharmacal Company, Saint Louis, U. S. A.

LISTERINE —the safe antiseptic

LISTERINE Throat Tablets, containing the antiseptic oils of Listerine, are now available ... While we frankly admit that no tablet or candy lozenge can correct halitosis, the Listerine antiseptic oils in these tablets are very valuable as a relief for throat irritations—25 cents.

ASKS HUSBAND TO COME HOME TO HELP PACKING

Wilmington, Del., Jan. 14.—One of the strangest communications ever received by Superintendent of Police Black was a letter from Mrs. Fred H. King of Middlebury, Vt., who asked that the police locate her husband, who is needed at home to help her pack her furniture. Mrs. King said in her letter she was about to remove to Lebanon, N. H., but wanted her husband's assistance in packing their household goods.

The letter added that Mr. King had left his Vermont home several months ago and that Mrs. King had reason to believe he had located in Wilmington. King, she added, was something of an expert in packing furniture and that he could return to Wilmington if he desired after the moving operation was over.

How to Make Pine Cough Syrup at Home

Has no equal for prompt results. Takes but a moment to prepare, and saves you about $2.

Pine is used in nearly all prescriptions and remedies for coughs. The reason is that pine has a remarkable effect in soothing and healing the membranes of the throat and chest.

Pine cough syrups are made of pine and syrups. The "syrup" is usually plain sugar syrup.

To make the best pine cough remedy, put 2½ ounces of Pinex in a pint bottle, and fill up with home-made sugar syrup. Or, use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup. This makes a full pint—more than you can buy ready-made for three times the money. It is pure, and tastes good.

You can feel it take right hold of a cough or cold. The cough may be dry, hoarse and tight, or may be persistently loose from the formation of phlegm. The cause is the same—inflamed membranes—and this Pinex and Syrup combination will stop it—usually in 24 hours or less. Splendid, too, for bronchial asthma, hoarseness, or any ordinary throat ailment.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of Norway pine extract, and is famous the world over for its prompt effect upon coughs.

Beware of substitutes. Ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with directions, and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

B. & M. PLAN STIRS N. H. BUSINESS MEN

By BERT FORD.

Manchester, N. H., Jan. 14.—Merchants and business firms generally are tremendously interested in that part of the Boston & Maine reorganization plan which contemplates amputation of all unprofitable branch lines.

It is conceded that the railroad is sorely pressed and has a measure of justification for so radical a change, but the sentiment that affected communities must be protected at all costs outweighs sympathy for the Boston & Maine in its plight.

The Manchester Chamber of Commerce is soon to hold a meeting to map out a course of action. The retail division of the Chamber is studying the situation.

N. H. MEN OPPOSED.

Charles W. Tobey, president of the Chamber of Commerce, said:

"Our organization hasn't acted on the Loring reorganization plan yet, but we expect to very soon. Until we do I must refrain from discussing the matter as an official of the Chamber.

"From a personal standpoint I might say that I was opposed to the branch line abandonment plan when it was before the Legislature last year, and I have not changed my opinion. Dropping branch lines is a serious proposition. It involves many angles and grave problems.

"The bill defeated in the last Legislature called for the abandonment of the Suncook and Milford lines. The Suncook Valley branch is now being operated by an independent company since the Boston & Maine cancelled its lease.

"I feel that the communities must be safeguarded and that the welfare and future of the State as a whole must be thought of in handling such matters. There are legal aspects that must be thrashed out. It is a question whether the Interstate Commerce Commission has the authority to pass on intra-State lines.

"The Loring plan renews on a larger scale what we have been fighting in the Legislature. We were given to understand that the measure would not come before the next Legislature and the Loring plan probably accounts for that. However, I prefer not to go into details until we have held our meeting and the chamber has taken a stand on the issue."

MERCHANTS CONCERNED.

Walter M. Parker, president of the Manchester National Bank, is a member of the special committee to consider the reorganization plan submitted by Chairman Homer Loring of the executive committee of the Boston & Maine. With him on the committee are Frank P. Carpenter of Manchester and A. H. Cross of Concord. Mr. Parker said:

"The Loring reorganization plan is tentative in its present form. It is merely a proposal to be considered as to its practicability. It is to be referred to a general committee who will treat it as a basis and get what they can out of it.

"It appears that something must be done. If Mr. Loring and the executive committee after careful study, feel that it would be unwise longer to operate certain unprofitable branch lines such a departure would seem to be necessary."

Merchants are concerned over the transportation problem. Patrons of stores in Manchester, who live along the lines slated for abandonment, might find it difficult, even impossible, to do their shopping in this city. It is admitted that the majority in outlying sections own automobiles, but in the Winter months and early Spring roads are often impassable, with the result that these customers could not make shopping trips.

Termination of leases by the Boston & Maine is one of the alarming features of the abandonment program so far as financial interests in New Hampshire are concerned. One or two of these leases have already been ended and others are slated to end. This means return of short intersecting roads to their owners, who will be compelled to operate them at a time when the consolidated parent system, with far greater resources, claims it cannot longer endure the increasing loss. It also means that local capital will have to finance these lines if they are to be continued.

STOCKHOLDERS UPSET.

The Suncook Valley branch, extending twenty-two miles, was returned to its owners some months ago and is now being operated independently. But the Boston & Maine has helped it with advice and the loan of material. Other leased lines might not be so well able to paddle their own canoes. Another lease likely soon to be terminated is that of the old Concord to Portsmouth line, extending fifty-eight miles. Upward of $2,000,000 worth of Boston & Maine stock and bonds is owned by New Hampshire banks and stockholders.

It should be stated in justice to both sides that a strong desire to co-operate and to bring about an adjustment as satisfactory and equitable as possible was detected in interviewing those in both camps. The high note sounded was that nothing should be done which would injure community or State. Encouraging public spirit was everywhere exhibited. Constructive action which would keep New Hampshire in step with progress was urged by the business interests.

The financial aspect of the proposed change is a matter of profound concern to the many stockholders living in New Hampshire.

FAVOR PLAN TRIAL.

In its annual report to the Governor and Legislature, the New Hampshire Public Service Commission favors giving a trial to the Loring plan of substituting motor service for trains on non-paying lines. Says the commission:

"We believe that those communities which cannot support steam train service, can be accommodated adequately by the operation of motor trucks and motor buses throughout the year, with the possible exception of the period during the extreme Winter weather and the early Spring, when the frost is coming out of the ground. Possibly eventually such service can be made adequate for all seasons of the year.

"At any rate, we firmly believe that the railroad should be permitted to try out these methods, or some other methods of transportation, with a view to solving the transportation problem. We know that the cost of the present method is too expensive, and for that reason cannot be continued indefinitely.

"Therefore, the only thing for the railroads to do is to find some less expensive method which will meet the service requirements. If legislation is necessary to enable the railroad to do this, then we recommend such legislation with proper safeguards to protect the adequacy of the service."

B. & M. Petitions Authority to Suspend More Lines

The B. & M. R. R. filed with the Interstate Commerce Commission at Washington today application for authority to suspend operations on twenty-three additional miles of trackage. These lines, from Danvers to North Andover, fifteen miles, and from Peabody to Wakefield Centre, eight miles, are among those branches of the system that have annually shown heavy operating losses, constituting a drain on the road as a whole.

Britain Has 1,370,800 Jobless, Labor Ministry Says

London, Jan. 14.—The unemployment situation in England continues to grow worse, according to a statement issued by the Ministry of Labor. Figures presented by the Ministry show 1,370,800 persons are on the lists of the unemployment exchange.

This indicates an increase of 33,815 unemployed over last week's figures, and 40,125 more than during the corresponding week of 1924.

VISCOUNT CECIL GETS OPIUM PARLEY POST

Geneva, Jan. 14.—The League of Nations was officially notified that Viscount Cecil of Chelwood had been appointed by Great Britain to take the place of the Marquis of Salisbury as England's delegate to the international opium conference.

There is some speculation here as to whether the naming of Ambassador Kellogg as secretary of State to succeed Mr. Hughes indicates any new development in the American attitude toward the League of Nations.

TAX COLLECTOR GIVEN TIME FOR RESTITUTION

Ashburnham, Jan. 14.—Durwood A. Peeler, former tax collector, has been given until Friday to make good a $3,000 shortage in his accounts, Chairman Bickford of the selectmen reports. The matter is in the hands of the Royal Indemnity Company of Boston, which is on Peeler's bond. The company is reported to have given him two more days of grace. Peeler has some property.

TAKE SALTS IF STOMACH ISN'T ACTING RIGHT

Says Jad Salts Relieves Excess of Hydrochloric Acid

Undigested food delayed in the stomach decays, or rather ferments, the same as food left in the open air, says a noted authority. He also tells us that Indigestion is caused by Hyperacidity, meaning there is an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach which prevents complete digestion and starts food fermentation. Thus everything eaten sours in the stomach much like garbage sours in a can, forming acrid fluids and gases which inflate the stomach like a toy balloon. Then we feel a heavy, lumpy misery in the chest; we belch up gas; we eructate sour food or have heartburn, flatulence, waterbrash or nausea.

He tells us to lay aside all digestive aids and instead get from any pharmacy four ounces of Jad Salts and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast and drink it while it is effervescing, and furthermore, to continue this for a week. While relief often follows the first dose, it is important to help neutralize the acidity, remove the gas-making mass, start the liver, stimulate the kidneys and thus promote a free flow of pure digestive juices.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and sodium phosphate. This harmless salts is used for many stomach disorders with excellent results.

Gambling Winnings Must Be Declared in Tax Return

Washington, Jan. 14.—Winnings from poker, race track bets and other games of chance are liable to the Federal income tax requirements, according to a ruling by the Board of Tax Appeals. The ruling was made on an appeal of J. P. McKenna, whom the records described as a "Kentucky race track bookmaker."

100 BABIES CLOTHED BY CECILIAN GUILD

More than 100 babies, whose mothers faced a problem to find sufficient clothing to "dress them up" for Christmas, received complete layettes, fresh from the needles and sewing machines of the Cecilian Guild of Boston. In addition to supplying these articles of clothing the organization also provided scores of undernourished children with milk and tided over the crisis of unemployment in many homes by footing the bills for Winter rent and coal.

'TOM' DIES MARTYR TO ECONOMY

Haverhill Postoffice Pet Sacrificed So That Nation Can Save $5 Year

Haverhill, Jan. 14.—"Tom" wandered into the postoffice four years ago.

No one paid much attention to him as he slid through the revolving door and slunk into a dark corner. In fact, nobody even saw him as he made his entrance, unless it was the man who had entered with him.

"Tom" had been leading a wild life in the back alleys and streets of Haverhill, picking up a bit of food here and a drink there; fighting when a fight was necessary. Altogether his existence had been a hectic one, and the quiet of the dark corner of the postoffice was something new to him. The steam escaping from the office radiator first disturbed him, then lulled him to sleep.

Ralph Vadeboncoeur, the night watchman and janitor, was making his rounds when he found "Tom" fast asleep. He picked him up, as his kindly way and carried him to the cellar. There he placed him by the furnace on a pile of old bagging and "Tom" slept on.

CUT "TOM'S" FEED BILL.

From that date the postoffice owned an office cat.

But the cost of feeding "Tom" was something else again, and an appropriation was requested and granted by the postal authorities at Washington. The sum of $5 a year was given to the janitor to buy liver and milk and other dainties for "Tom." In return "Tom" kept the place free from mice and rats which might destroy valuable mail.

Came a period of economic retrenchment in the postal service. The postmaster's salary was cut. The assistant postmaster's salary was cut. No money was provided for substitute carriers. Hard times were hitting the postoffice, but "Tom" knew nothing about it. He kept right on killing the rats and mice—and of course, eating and drinking.

And then, down in the great city of Washington an eagle-eyed ass'stant discovered the $5 appropriation for "Tom's" annual feed bill.

Came a wire to the postoffice. "Tom" must stop eating on the government. The $5 was cut off, and "Tom" was without funds.

GOVERNMENT SAVES $5.

The kindly Vadeboncoeur fed the cat out of his own pocket for one week. Then he started thinking. "Why should Ralph Vadeboncoeur pay the cat bill for the richest country in the world?"

So a week ago Ralph called "Tom" to his side. He explained in no uncertain language what he thought about such a state of affairs. "Tom" looked knowingly and purred.

Ralph, with a lump in his throat and a tear in his eye, placed "Tom" under a box on the cellar floor. He slid a sponge soaked with chloroform under the box with "Tom," and walked away. He thought of that night when he found "Tom" asleep by the radiator.

In a little while he went back to the cellar and lifted up the box, but "Tom" was asleep again. And he will never wake up.

And the government has saved $5 a year.

SERGEANT ACQUITTED OF TRYING TO KISS HOSTESS

Sergeant Timothy Shea of the Ninth Tank Company, who was charged with disrupting an Army and Navy Club party on November 22 by boisterously demanding that a society girl serving as hostess give him a kiss, has been acquitted.

The sergeant was on duty in charge of military police at the Army and Navy Club on that day, and the original charges were that he arrived or became intoxicated and became too exuberant toward Miss Marjorie Pierce, a hostess.

PHOTOS OF SHIP CRASH CLEAR CAPT. CALL

A photographer's plates have restored Captain Alfred W. Call, retired master mariner, to the quarterdeck and bridge.

Captain Call, in charge of the "Boston" of the Eastern Steamship Company lines when that vessel was in collision with the oil tanker "Swift Arrow," has been absolved of all blame by the Federal investigation service, and his master's ticket has been restored.

The government shipping inspectors at Providence, R. I., revoked the license of Captain Call after conducting an inquiry. The Captain appealed to the supervising inspector of the fifth district, who sustained the inspector.

Satisfied that he had handled his ship according to the rules and regulations of the government and in keeping with the best practices of the sea, Captain Call again appealed to Washington and his fight was successful.

Four passengers on the "Boston" lost their lives in the collision, and the inspector revoked the license of Captain Call because it was brought out that he had his boat going full speed ahead through the fog, a short time before the crash.

In the findings which restore Captain Call's ticket, the supervising inspector general's report says:

"The photographs of the damage to both vessels are silent but positive witnesses to the fact that the "Boston" was dead in the water, and that the "Swift Arrow" had sufficient way on her to sound the Boston to the extent she did."

WEALTHY MAN HELD ON RUM BUYING CHARGE

Portland, Me., Jan. 14.—Charged with conspiracy, James H. McGlinchy, wealthy local real estate owner and horse racer, was arrested by a deputy sheriff. He is alleged to have bought 10 cases of the Imitation Scotch whiskey that was manufactured on a cape Elizabeth farm until a big seizure of 580 bottles was made two weeks ago.

The warrant naming McGlinchy also names several persons alleged to have sold him liquor, according to the sheriff, and an effort is being made to arrest them.

AIR MAIL SERVICE FOR ARGENTINA IS OPENED

Rio Janeiro, Jan. 14.—An aerial mail service between Brazil and Argentina will be inaugurated today by the French Aviation Mission. Three hydro-airplanes plan to hop off from Rio Janeiro for Buenos Aires, stopping en route at Sao Paulo, Curityba, Florianopolis and Montevideo.

The service will be combined with mail steamers arriving at Rio Janeiro from Europe thus cutting by four days the postal service from Europe to River La Plata ports.

DAVIS WOULD EXTEND QUOTA RESTRICTIONS

Washington, Jan. 14.—Recent investigations in South America have convinced Secretary Davis that immigration from these countries as well as from Mexico and Canada, should be placed on a quota basis as is the case with Europe.

'SUICIDE BRIDE' WAS JEALOUS

Phone Bill Caused Argument Just Before Her Death, Husband Says

Calais, Me., Jan. 14.—An altercation caused by the young bride's jealousy at finding another woman's telephone bill in her husband's pocket, preceded by only an hour or two the mysterious death of nine-teen-year-old Mrs. Katherine Mooney Young, shot to death in her bed chamber on January 6.

This fact, with many others, came to light for the first time today when the authorities, burning of the public indignation at what appeared to be a covering-up of the true story, gave the Boston American the results of their investigation.

According to the authorities, William F. Young, the wealthy Calais youth, with whom the girl eloped less than six months ago, told Medical Examiner Willard H. Bunker of the unpleasant occurrence of the morning of the shooting.

TOLD OF QUARREL.

His wife, Young declared, became hysterical with jealousy when she found the telephone bill. She refused to credit his explanation that it belonged to a man with whom he had been playing billiards.

Although county officials declared today that the young wife committed suicide, their theories are not accepted by residents of Calais, who declare the suspicious circumstances in connection with the case have not been explained.

Medical Examiner Bunker of Calais, who declared the death suicidal, admitted that he did not perform an autopsy to determine the direction which the bullet took.

The authorities confessed that they had not stopped to consider the fact that if the bullet was found to have taken a markedly downward course, the suicide theory would have lost much, if not all, of its substance.

HAD MOVED BODY.

Among the facts which will be called to the attention of the attorney-general of the State are that when Dr. Bunker arrived at the house, the body had been moved. The young wife had been dead twenty minutes.

Two family physicians were in attendance. The revolver lay on the bureau. The husband admitted he placed the revolver there, "in his excitement."

The mother-in-law was upstairs, being in a room across the hall, when the shot was heard. She was the first on the scene.

A maid, running from another upstairs room the moment she heard the shot, found the elder Mrs. Young bending over the girl, according to the maid's story.

Young is placed in the sitting-room downstairs at the time of the shooting, and a maid is declared to have said she saw him dashing upstairs after she heard the shot.

HOLD AUTOIST, CHARGE BADLY INJURED MAN

William A. English of Walker avenue, Everett, pleaded not guilty in the Charlestown Court today to the charge of operating an automobile so as to endanger the lives and safety of the public on Alford street, Charlestown. Judge Joseph E. Donovan continued the case for one week, when Sergeant Max Thurour said that a man struck by the automobile was on the danger list at the Massachusetts General Hospital. English was operating an automobile truck, the police say, which struck Charles Emery, fifty-two years of age, of No. 59 Clinton street, Everett.

MAINE KLAN INDUCTS BIG CLASS AT GARDINER

Gardiner, Me., Jan. 14.—In a twenty-acre field, blanketed with snow, the Ku Klux Klan staged a mid-Winter naturalization service. One of the largest classes to join the organization since it was established in Maine was inducted.

A police force was on hand to see that all present conformed to the rules of the grounds.

Pawtucket, R. I., Jan. 14.—Mrs. Laura Wilbur, seventy-four years old, of No. 19 Manchester street, is at the Memorial Hospital here on the dangerous list as a result of burns she received when her clothing caught fire while she was using a gas iron.

EX-MAYOR REBUFFED BY KING

Tom's Foe Reopens Fight Which Was Followed by Felon's Sentence

THIS is the thirty-seventh chapter of the adventurous career of Thomas W. Lawson, one-time financial mogul, now broken in health and spirit and close to poverty. Previous chapters have related his adventures in finance, in home building and as an author.

IN his role of "Prince of Peace" Mayor John F. Fitzgerald telephoned Cardenio F. King one afternoon as the first step toward halting King's feud with Tom Lawson.

"Hello, King," called the mayor, cheerily. "How are you this beautiful day?"

"As fine as the weather. What can I do for the Lord Mayor of Boston?"

"I want to see you for a few moments."

"All right. Come on over."

"Can't just now; tremendously busy. How about after working hours?"

"Fine. Come over when you can. I'll wait."

"I'd rather not go to your office. You know how the reporters are—all the time watching where I go and making stories about it."

"How about my room at Young's?"

"Fine. I'll be there—6 o'clock."

And so the "little Versailles" was arranged and the doughty chief executive of the Hub hastened into Young's just before 6, at his usual breathless speed.

"Fitzy" a Fast Worker

Nowhere in this wide universe is there a man who ever saw John F. Fitzgerald dawdle. His step is ever one of nervous haste, even if only crossing a room floor.

He shakes hands in a brisk, breezy way, and when he is talking he jiggles his watch chain a guesser's distance of five to ten inches up and down. Any shorthand reporter in this or any other city will

MINNEAPOLIS FAVORED TO DOWN B. A. A. IN ARENA CLASH

RATED AS BEST TEAM IN WEST

TONIGHT'S LINEUP AT ARENA.

| B. A. A. | | MINNEAPOLIS. |
|---|---|---|
| Harrington | l.w.r.w. | Boyd, Connolly |
| Geran, Enright | c. | A. Johnson, Welland |
| Hughes | r.w. l.w. | Hall, Dewar |

| Small | r.d. l.d. | Yonkowski |
| La Croix | g. g. | Hurley |

B. A. A. is the hope of the East in club hockey competition. Fans here have faith in Captain Ag Smith's team to overcome Fort Pitt, the Maples and the Boston Hockey Club and qualify for the national club with the western winner.

The western issue appears to have simmered down to Minneapolis and the Pittsburgh Yellow Jackets, although a complete overturn may develop before the series has ended.

So that the game tonight at the Arena between the Minneapolis leaders and the B. A. A., Eastern leaders, takes on an important aspect. If the Unicorn, probably less proficient in mechanical hockey skill but possessing wiser hockey instinct than the invaders, can succeed in downing Minneapolis tonight it will be hailed as one of the greatest triumphs of the season to date.

Speed and good balance have been the secret of Minneapolis' success. Coach Fred Rocque has developed a mighty hockey machine. All signs point to a Minneapolis win tonight but club hockey is such an uncertain proposition that an upset may result.

The B. A. A. faces a hard assignment within the next four days. The game tonight with Minneapolis will take considerable out of the Unicorn. Tomorrow night they hop sleepers for Pittsburgh where they play league games with Fort Pitt on Friday and Saturday nights.

Hockey Notes

Boston's first alumni hockey test, featuring Harvard and Dartmouth, tomorrow night at the Radcliffe ice carnival at the Arena, promises some highly interesting hockey.

There is such widespread interest in this game that Manager George V. Brown is planning to institute an alumni series next season with Harvard, Yale, Dartmouth and Princeton as the contesting teams if the Elis and Tigers consent to enter such an arrangement.

* * *

George Owen intends to make his farewell athletic appearance with the Harvard Alumni team tomorrow night a noteworthy event. Owen, Ted Crosby, Alex Bright, Ned Bigelow, Johnny Martin, Hank Snelling, Willard Rice and Jack Wylde appreciate the sturdiness of the opposition tomorrow night.

Dartmouth is sending an all-star team against the Crimson grads. It probably is the strongest graduate team that the Green could muster. Clarence Wannamaker, Jerry Geran and Leon Tuck will form one line while Stan Lyons, Frank Sheehy and Johnny Murray will be the second line. There is a chance that Bob "Red" Hall, former Dartmouth star now with Minneapolis, will remain over to play for his alma mater.

* * *

Many Massachusetts boys will be in the Bowdoin College lineup against Boston University in one half of the double-header at the Arena Friday night. The Maples and the Boston Hockey Club will play a league in the other end of the twin bill.

* * *

So many requests have been received by Manager Brown to schedule the Berlin, N. H., team here, that he has decided to send the Flying Frenchmen against the Maples at the Arena Monday night.

Fred Rocque's Minneapolis team, defeated the Maples at the Arena, 3 to 1, in an uninteresting game.

* * *

Toward the close the contest grew more or less rough, and sticks whirled about in all directions rather frequently.

BOUTS LAST NIGHT.

At New York—Sid Terris defeated Jimmy Goodrich, 12 rounds.
At Cleveland—Charlie O'Connell defeated Archie Walker, 12 rounds. Spencer Gardner knocked out Sonny Gorio, six rounds.

OLD TIME SPORT STORIES
by GEORGE V. TUOHEY

George Lavigne Gained World Renown by Spectacular Victory Over Joe Walcott

This is the second of a series of articles on old-time athletic heroes by George V. Tuohey, famous promoter, who has been identified with big sporting events for thirty-five years.

On the night that Bob Fitzsimmons and Joe Choynski met in their memorable battle in the Boston Theatre, two young men stood dejectedly in the lobby waiting for a friendly nod from somebody who knew them and would pass them by the doortender.

It happened to be the writer's good fortune to see the pair, to say the word that gave them entre and thus paved the way for a partnership that landed one of the men as world's lightweight champion and the other into a reputation as a manager and trainer that made him world famous.

One of the men was George Lavigne, the "Saginaw Kid"; the other, Sam Fitzpatrick, the "Australian Comet." Both had been in Boston for some time seeking bouts without success, and each was at the limit of his finances. Lavigne had come here from the Middle West with a view to getting a match with George Dixon for the world's featherweight championship. He had placed himself in the hands of Joe Lewis, then the backer of Dick O'Brien, and Alec Greggains, whom Lewis believed implicitly would eventually be the world's middle and heavyweight champion, respectively.

Lavigne Gets Started

Lewis gave Lavigne some money and advised him to seek his fortune in New York or some other place where the going was good for men of his weight. Fitzpatrick had done nothing in the way of boxing and was flat broke.

Misery loves company, so inside the theatre, sitting together, they made an agreement to pair off, with Sam as manager and trainer and George to do the fighting. It was the beginning of a joint career that lasted as long as both were in the game and a friendship seldom seen between a pugilist and his mentor.

Johnny Griffin, the "Braintree Lad," was then going big in and around New York and a match was suggested with Lavigne. The latter jumped at the chance, and though he had to concede considerable weight he won the verdict in eight rounds and WAS MADE, to use a current expression.

Matchmakers fell over themselves to sign Lavigne and he advanced rapidly until Jack McAuliffe, then title holder, realizing that he had reached the point where he must retire or go down to defeat, took the former course and yielded the title to the lad from Michigan.

Naturally whenever the name of Lavigne is mentioned Bostonians immediately recall his battle with Walcott at Maspeth. The "Black Demon" had beaten about everybody in his class and was tossing defies at even the heavyweights of that time. Joe was a small fellow in poundage, but his upper body and arms were those of a heavyweight.

Walcott vs. Lavigne

And how that baby could punch. He gave away a lot of weight even to such men as "Mysterious" Billy Smith, then world's welterweight champion, whom he fought to a draw in old Music Hall. Walcott had twice beaten Dick O'Brien here in Boston, had whipped Tommy Tracey, the great Australian champion, and stopped Mick Dunn, the rugged middleweight from the land of the Southern Cross. His name was anathema to the lightweights, the middleweights and many of the heavyweights of his day.

So that when a match with Lavigne was broached, even Sam Fitzpatrick tried to evade it by insisting on weight conditions that appeared to settle all chances of the men ever meeting. Tom O'Rourke, manager of Walcott, usually exceptionally careful in his matchmaking, did not like to have any of his men share their popularity, and as Lavigne was the champion the latter was a shining mark to point at.

Tom then made his great managerial mistake. He offered to bet that Walcott could come in at 133 pounds, which was the lightweight limit, and would stop Lavigne in 15 rounds on a winner-take-all basis. These terms were accepted.

And what a battle! Both men were in perfect fettle, apparently. And as Walcott had to knock his man out to win he started with a rush to finish the job inside the limit. Now in handicap matches of this nature it was the usual course for the defender to go on the defence and to kill time by every means in his power. A slight tap was an excuse to drop to the floor, take the count up to nine, to clinch, to daily from his corner and to resort to every possible time-using trick known to the game.

Instead of backing up, Lavigne met Walcott toe to toe and they slammed and banged at each other without a let-up. Before many rounds had passed it became a question whether it would go the limit and with either man a winner.

GEORGE LAVIGNE

Scores Double Victory

In the seventh round, Lavigne's ear was swollen to three times its natural size and as this was the mark at which Walcott kept shooting, the courage of the "Saginaw Kid" was shown at its best. A few rounds later the ear was nearly torn off by one of Walcott's punches, but Lavigne never slowed up.

In fact, Walcott began to falter, while the relief from the injured ear appeared to stimulate Lavigne, so that when the fifteenth round was reached, the latter was not only a winner by lasting the full distance, but he had won a second decision by an unofficial referee agreed upon that he had outfought and outpointed the colored man and was entitled to a decision on this basis.

It is probably one of the few times in fistic history when two decisions have been made in a ring contest.

FRIENDS THINK BENNY LEONARD IS THROUGH

New York, Jan. 14.—Followers of boxing today expressed the conviction that Benny Leonard is through with the ring, upon learning that the lightweight champion will open a fifteen weeks vaudeville engagement in Chicago Monday.

Leonard is recuperating from a recent illness at Lakewood, N. J., and the claim was made that if he seriously intended re-entering the ring he would not imperil his health by plunging into stage work so soon after his recovery.

It is understood that Leonard will issue a public statement of his intentions some time today or tomorrow.

Flowers Now 2 to 1 Pick Over Delaney

New York, Jan. 14.—Tiger Flowers, Atlanta negro middleweight, ruled a 2 to 1 favorite today to defeat Jack Delaney of Bridgeport, Ct., in their 12-round bout at Madison Square Garden, Friday night.

Delaney has requested that he be given a championship match with Harry Greb in the event that he gains the decision and has signed Larry Estridge as a sparring partner in order to accustom himself to the southpaw style of fighting, which Flowers uses occasionally.

CLIFF BINKLEY MADE CHOICE OVER STASIAK

Cliff Binckley, former Ohio State football star, has been installed a favorite for his finish mat bout, best two falls out of three, with Leone Labriola, Italian heavyweight, which will be staged at the Grand Opera House on tomorrow night.

Stanley Stasiak is matched to meet an unknown on the same card. He may be treading in hot water. The unknown is not unknown as far as Boston mat fans are concerned.

He stands well over six feet and weighs close to 220 pounds. He is a clean cut athlete and looks every inch a wrestler.

FLYNN AND SHEVLIN IN TITLE GO AT LYNN

Eddie Shevlin will face Irish Paddy Flynn of Everett in the feature bout at the Casino A. C., Lynn, next Monday night. Flynn insisted that the match be for the New England welterweight title and both boys have posted substantial forfeits to make the required weight.

PANCHO VILLA GOES ON STAGE IN CHINA

New York, Jan. 14.—Pancho Villa is knockin' 'em dead in China. But not in the ring. Pancho is jealous of Corbett, Dempsey, Leonard and other ring stars and has tossed his hat into the theatrical ring. He is appearing in Shanghai and is the hero of the hour, or something.

GIBBONS-FIRPO BOUT SLATED FOR MARCH 30

London, Jan. 14.—The Gibbons-Firpo match is practically a certainty for March 30, the Daily Mail announced today.

Flowers to Box Allen

New York, Jan. 14.—Tiger Flowers, New York colored middleweight, will face Allentown Joe Gans at Wilkes-Barre, Pa., on Monday, his manager announced. The bout is scheduled for 10 rounds.

ONLY 75 REPORT FOR COMMERCE TRACK TEAM

By FRED C. LANE.

There is a loss of interest in track sports at the High School of Commerce. For the first time in many years the response for track positions on the team is the smallest. Ordinarily 125 to 150 boys report each year for track honors. This season but a scant 75 are on hand.

With such conditions existing the possibility of Coach Heming developing a winning team look dubious. For the past two or three years Commerce has been one of the foremost contenders for premier honors in Boston high school ranks.

Some lay the loss of interest in track to swimming and hockey. These two sports are comparatively new and in some respects can be blamed for the shortage of track candidates.

There are five senior members on the team this season and although none are eligible for stardom they have proven themselves consistent point winners and this fact may help the Commerce cause.

What ordinarily is the strong suit of every track team in Boston school circles—the juniors—is this season the weakest. On the strength of the youngsters is built the foundation for all successful teams.

Paul Balopta is the outstanding individual in the junior grade. He gives promise of maturing into a real dash man. There is a possibility that more will be developed in this division as the season gets under way.

Redmund Foley and Walter Smith are the schools best bets in the 1000-yard run. Captain McCarthy will carry on in the 600-yard run. Walter Carmichael and Melvin Shute are two shot putters of ability. Johnny Ryan and Gumpright, both winning juniors last season, are members of the intermediate class and with their knowledge of the running game should prove an asset to the Commerce cause this season.

ARMY ELEVEN SCHEDULE ANNOUNCED

West Point, N. Y., Jan. 14.—The Army's 1925 football schedule of nine games, including a record list of five intersectional contests, was completed by the signing of Davis and Elkins College of Elkins, W. Va., for a game at West Point, Nov. 7.

The list: Oct. 3, University of Detroit; 10, Knox College of Illinois; 17, Notre Dame, at New York; 24, St. Louis University; 31, Yale at New Haven; Nov. 7, Davis and Elkins; 14, Columbia, at New York; 21, Ursinus; 28, Navy, at New York.

HENDERSON HAS NOT QUIT AT CALIFORNIA

Los Angeles, Jan. 14.—Elmer C. Henderson, head football coach at the University of Southern California, has completely discounted reports that he had resigned, the Los Angeles Times says today.

"I have not resigned," Henderson said. "However, if the University of Southern California can benefit by my stepping down, I stand ready to do so."

HERMAN, FORMER BRAVE, SOLD TO ALBANY CLUB

By the Associated Press.

"Abe" Herman, former Colgate infielder and later signed with the Braves, has been sold by the Worcester club of the Eastern League to the Albany club of the same league for a reported sum of $3,500.

20 BOUTS CARDED FOR B. A. A. SHOW TONIGHT

By JACK CONWAY

THERE will be twenty bouts at the B. A. A.'s amateur boxing tournament at its clubhouse on Exeter street tonight. There will be contests for novices at 112 and 147 pounds, while the 126, 135 and 160-pound classes will be open.

Athletic Director Tom Kanaly declares that the class of the New England amateur boxers has entered this show and that plenty of lively competition is expected.

The B. A. A. has always been a leader in promoting amateur athletics. Furthermore, it has never commercialized star athletes as is so common nowadays with most of the so-called amateur clubs.

THE Boston Lodge of Elks will stage an amateur show at its clubhouse on Somerset street tomorrow night. George Freeman, who is in charge of this show, says bleacher seats will be installed to care for the large crowd that is expected to turn out to witness this tournament.

* * *

EDDIE SHEVLIN, New England welterweight champion, has been matched to battle Paddy Flynn of Everett in a ten-round bout at the Casino A. C. of Lynn on next Monday night. Flynn has been boxing in New York during the past few years and has piled up a creditable array of victories. Paddy will have to step lively, though, if he is to win over Shevlin. In his last start the New England champion won over Bob Lowrie, Stoch welterweight boss.

* * *

BERNIE COWETTE of Manchester, N. H., has been signed to mingle with Tommy Flanagan of New Bedford in a ten-round bout at Taunton's opening boxing show on Friday night.

* * *

JACKIE WILLIAMS of Chicago will have Gunboat Jacks of Lawrence as an opponent in a ten-session affair at Portsmouth, N. H., on Friday evening. This should be a rugged mill.

* * *

AL LEWIS of the South End has been booked to collide with K. O. Liberty of Lewiston in a twelve-round affair at Lewiston on January 22. Young Liberty, a brother of the K. O. artist, will try conclusions with Jimmy Harmon in the semi-final of eight chapters.

* * *

JIMMY MANNING, South Boston bantamweight, will tackle Kid Mercier of Claremont, N. H., in a twelve-round bout at Claremont on January 22. If he wins, Manning will be prepared to meet any of the local ring lights.

* * *

FRANKIE CURTIS of Hyde Park, who won his last start by stopping Billy Brady at Lynn, has been matched to go against Young Marcelle in a ten-round tussle at Holyoke on January 23.

* * *

THE fact that Jack Sharkey has resumed his old slam-bang style of fighting is likely to send him to the post a favorite when he battles Sully Montgomery next Tuesday night. In scoring four knockdowns against Jack De Mave, New York ring sensation, last week, Sharkey proved he is at his best when he disregards defensive methods and relies upon wide open, two-handed fighting methods to win.

CONTI, FRENCH CUE STAR, NOT COMING TO U. S.

Paris, Jan. 14 (A.P.)—Roger Conti, the French cue star, has practically made up his mind to remain in Europe throughout the Winter and thus will be a non-participant in the world's 18.2 balkline billiard championship matches in the United States next month, unless he undergoes an eleventh-hour change of mind.

Conti has left for Switzerland on a ten-days' tour and afterwards will visit Holland and Belgium.

Many reasons are advanced for the youthful French wizard's failure to go to the United States, among which is Conti's expressed desire to have the benefit of another year's practice before tackling Willie Hoppe.

There are also matters of an intimate character in which Cupid plays a prominent part, and in a more prosaic field the question of a difference of opinion between the player and a firm of billiard manufacturers regarding Conti's salary for 1925 after his record-breaking performances in the European championships last month.

Felix Grange or Edmond Derbler, runners-up to Conti last month, will probably be selected to represent France in the world's championships in America should Conti maintain his present stand.

CELTICS SIGN TO CLASH WITH WHIRLWINDS

The Original Celtics, world's basketball champions, will make their first appearance in Boston this season on Monday evening, January 26 at Mechanics Building, opposing the Boston Whirlwinds, New England basketball champions.

The Whirlwinds have yet to be defeated this season, holding victories over every leading team in New England.

A win over the Celtics will give the Hub quintet a chance to make a fortune.

The whirlwinds will start their regular lineup of Bill Barrett and Captain Fiddle Morley, guards; Leo Martin centre, and Dutch Guenther, Earl Heal and Whitey Bernots, forwards. Tickets for this contest will be put on sale the latter part of this week at the leading sporting goods houses in Boston.

INTERNATIONAL BATTERS TOPPED BY PORTER

Dick Porter of Baltimore led the International League in hitting during the season of 1924, according to thte official averages made public today. Taking part in 123 games, he was 509 times at bat and got 199 hits for an average of .364. He was topped by Horan of Reading with an average of .376, but the latter took part in only 63 games.

Fred Merkle, the old Giant first baseman, hit .350 and got 32 home runs with Rochester. Dick Hoblitzell, former Red Sox, hit .338 with Reading. Fritz Maisel, ex-Yankee, barely got in the .300 class.

ZARAKOV MAY HAVE TO GO UNDER KNIFE

"Izzy" Zarakov, Harvard all-around athletic star, has been freed to give up hockey for the season. He suffered an knee injury in the Harvard-Dartmouth football game that may necessitate an operation before he can participate in any more athletics. The Harvard sextet, however, although it loses the services of Zarakov, is benefited by the fact that Jack Hammond, the Crimson football star, has reported for practice for the first time. Hammond has been a member of the varsity hockey team for the past two seasons.

TECH VARSITY CREW CAPTAIN RESIGNS

The resignation of Steve Sutter, captain of the Tech varsity crew, because of ill health, was announced by Mgr. Frisbie. Bill Latham, who stroked last year's junior varsity and who rows No. 3 on this year's crew, was appointed by Coach Haines as acting captain.

… ALY WILL COME AS HIS AID

According to the latest report today from the Harvard Athletic Association, the coaching situation for 1925 is still far from settled.

… Moore, graduate manager of athletics at Cambridge, declared this morning that several more meetings of the Football Advisory Committee will be held before the recommendation is sent to the Harvard Athletic Committee for final acceptance. Until that ratification is given, no definite information can be given.

Bob Fisher

There are many things, however, that are beginning to be eliminated. As a result of the meeting held yesterday in Major Moore's office at the Harvard Athletic Association, it was learned that it is impossible for … Daly to be head coach at Harvard next year.

It was also denied that Percy Wendell, who recently signed a three-year contract at Lehigh, would be head coach for the Crimson gridiron.

Daly, however, will assist next year's staff as backfield coach. He has just been assigned by Secretary of War Weeks to report at Harvard … June to take charge of the reserve officers' training work. That means that he will find time to help … football.

… ER DID WELL.

Of course, it is only natural that the committee on Harvard football should consider all ideas to benefit the team and the college for the coming season and for the seasons to come. For many years the name of Harvard was supreme in college football. Under the "Haughton regime" the Crimson football forces reached its peak.

When Haughton left Harvard he was succeeded by one of his former … Bob Fisher. Fisher was head coach at Harvard for the last … years. During this period of … the Fisher coached teams have lost to Yale for the past two seasons. Everybody begins to cry out … the so-called "Harvard System" … "Bob" Fisher are on the de…

… when one considers the total number of times that Harvard has beaten Yale, the story takes a different aspect. For in the last six years Harvard has lost to Yale only …, whereas Yale has lost to Harvard four times. All this goes to bear out the fact that Fisher can turn out winning teams.

… X WILL BE NAMED.

Eliminating such men as Charley Daly, Percy Wendell and Paul Withington, it seems natural to believe the next year's coach at Harvard will be a man that has been used to the Harvard system of football.

When the Harvard athletic committee denies that any of the men mentioned above will be named as head coach it points very strongly to the fact that "Bob" Fisher will be head coach at Harvard next year. Very often it is easier to reorganize by changing the system than by changing the personnel. Many people closely connected at Harvard believe that Fisher will be named as head coach and that Charley Daly will be backfield coach.

… Leary, the end coach who developed Beals in a week before the Yale game, and Crowley, from Columbia, are also expected to be retained.

Everything looks as if Jimmie …z, Harvard second team coach and scout, will remain on the Crimson staff of football coaches.

…endell Tied Up by Lehigh Till Nov. 30

Bethlehem, Pa., Jan. 14.—Athletic authorities at Lehigh University said today they were not alarmed over the reports that Percy Wendell, who has signed a three-year contract to coach the Lehigh football team, would be sought as head coach at Harvard next year.

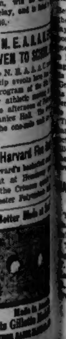

Graduate Manager Jack Petriken is authority for the statement that Wendell is to be Lehigh's coach for the season of 1925.

The agreement stipulated, he said, that Wendell could sever his connection only at the end of any football season covered by his contract. The end of the 1925 season will be November 30.

A Story of Flaming Youth

Heart and Soul of 1924 Flapper Laid Bare in Best Story by Author of "Chickie"

START THE STORY HERE TODAY

Margaret Meadows married Will Lee at seventeen. His dissolute habits soon made her miserable. The night he raised his hand to his two-year-old child in a drunken rage she slipped from his home with her baby. Margaret supported her daughter by teaching school in several villages, finally settling in Fairdale, where she met Andrew and they fell in love. But he was tied to an invalid wife and Margaret refused to let him leave her. Nora, at seventeen, fell in love with Dane Herrick. Andrew was killed in an auto accident. Nora met Maxwell Reed, who made love to her. Margaret died and Nora was left alone. She plunged into a fast set of flappers. Virginia's death is a warning to her.

SHE walked along [illegible] and black glowing eyes [illegible] goodness—she was [illegible] light and laughter, and [illegible] easy grace at her side.

"We'll have a bite somewhere together and you'll confess [illegible]. Tell me why the [illegible] fury?"

She couldn't help it. She [illegible] at him an engaging "aunt." [illegible] I hear that men are [illegible]. Did you ever hear [illegible] against ladies?"

"Po androus. [illegible] That's what we call it when it's women. [illegible] didn't used to be [illegible] don't know you were [illegible] and you know."

"It's awful."

"Because you're [illegible] knowledge yet. In a [illegible] you say it's delightful."

"I think it's sad for us that came just on the betwixt and between stage, don't you?"

"Not so sad as it's different. You see, it takes the dead majority a long while to catch up with the enlightened few and the [illegible] enlightened few are more [illegible], so it's always [illegible] who run ahead of the [illegible]. You see, the slow fellows [illegible] heaps of convention [illegible] the pace of those who are breaking free. That's [illegible] the—"

"But look here. [illegible]—have I a rival?"

"On—a rival? I [illegible] hope you have a legion of [illegible]."

"Is it Richard? Are you thinking of marriage?"

"Yes, I am! But not with Richard."

"With me, Nora Lee?"

Love for Two!

"And other parts, too, Nora Lee." He was stooping with the key turned in the lock. He drew [illegible] an arm swiftly about her. "Yes—ah, dear—we love each other!"

[illegible]

Max's Proposal

She felt her cheeks [illegible] scarlet streaking her [illegible]. She wanted to make some [illegible] answer. Her tongue [illegible] her mouth.

Max leaned over and covered her hands with both of his. He [illegible] a hoarse, queer tone: "Let us [illegible] Lee. We could make a go of it."

His look was intent and white. His hands pressed hers. He said in a humble, quiet way: "Couldn't we make a go of it, Nora Lee?"

She didn't know if it was fear or joy, but only a thing vivid and [illegible] surging through her pulse [illegible] Max spoke. She looked into his dark, glowing eyes. She heard [illegible] self murmur in an uncertain [illegible] voice: "I don't love you, Max. I didn't think you cared this way. Remember, you don't believe in marriage."

"You don't love me, Nora Lee? You have some afeeling for me, call it love or not."

She was unable to take her glance from his; unable to move her hands. She said breathlessly: "No—it's not love. I know what love can be."

He got up and held her coat, smoothing the collar. He turned her about and looked into her full, pleading eyes. Then he smiled: "Yours isn't love, Nora Lee? Are you sure of that? I think mine is."

She put her hand quickly in his. "Then I'm sorry, Max. Our friendship—I suppose that's gone."

"Was it ever friendship, Nora Lee? Don't answer! Whatever it was, we keep it! I'm not giving you up—not yet."

Then he insisted on taking her to a show; he talked between acts in his soft, exquisite drawl. "If it's not love, Nora Lee, it's something awfully pleasant, isn't it? It puts color into life, doesn't it? You'll miss me if you cast me out. Admit it—won't you?"

She said defiantly: "Of course I'll miss you!"

Blew Smoke in Her Face

When she looked for her key at the door Max puffed lazily at his cigarette, blowing the smoke in her face. "By the way, sis, when is that young Herrick boy coming home?"

"Soon."

"Ah—so. And you mean to marry him, Nora Lee? You think you can be happy with that kind of life? Listen, sis; you're a hot, impulsive creature. Don't let your feelings at the first, rush you into a marriage that you'll regret."

She glanced at him wonderingly. "That I'll regret? What do you mean?"

"That you're exotic in your tastes and longing. You won't like grubbing along on next to nothing. Perhaps you can't even stand it. Why, [illegible] girl, as soon as you had 10 [illegible]

ONLY FALSE PRIDE SEEKS TO HIDE IGNORANCE

Don't let your pride keep you from getting more and better education, even if it must be in night school or by yourself after working hours.

In cities night schools give instruction in practically any line you might like to pursue.

Public speaking is taught to those who are deficient in that line.

It is a great asset to be able to express one's thoughts intelligently and forcefully while standing before an audience.

Some persons are so afraid that they will display their ignorance or that their lack of training will become known that they do not take advantage of the many avenues which lead to the top in any line they might select.

Due to a false pride such people go their entire lives filling menial positions, whereas with some instruction and study they might have risen to a far more important rank.

Why block your own advancement by your short-sighted attitude that you want to hide your unschooled condition, and you think you can by keeping away from classes or teachers who make it a business to coach along these lines?

It should be rather a matter of embarrassment that you have not taken advantage of every opportunity to learn all you can.

DAILY SHORT STORY

FOLKS who knew little Jerry Norton, always said that it was a shame his body wasn't [illegible] in proportion to his wonderful, big heart. Strangers who didn't know him, often remarked about his [illegible] little body, [illegible] short—and [illegible] thin little legs and arms.

"Looks as [illegible]," most of them laughed a little when they said that.

[illegible] always, if the [illegible] knew Jerry [illegible] promptly [illegible]. They told of Jerry's work for the Boy Scout movement, of his building a home for the Dependent Old Women of the town and all his other gifts to needy people and institutions.

"Jerry doesn't make his gifts from the fortune his father left him," they boasted, "but from his own, which he built in his own factory, run too, according to the Golden Rule."

Fancy Free.

For Jerry was now forty years old, wealthy and, until Nancy Howlett came his way, "whole hearted and fancy free," he boasted. After she came, Jerry's tiny body moved more rapidly than ever before, trying to keep up with Nancy and be all the places where she was.

"Oh, he's nice," Nancy confided to her cousin, Tom, who had known [illegible] for a long, long time, "but [illegible] I'm bigger than he is. Why does he have to fall in love with me, Tom? And make all [illegible] because I can't [illegible]. Oh, Tom, no matter how much you care for him, I just can't love him."

At first, Tom thought he would [illegible] Jerry what Nancy had [illegible] to him [illegible] the boxes of beautiful flowers from Jerry's favorite florist [illegible] at Nancy's home. It looked even sadder than that to see his car always waiting in front of the houses where Nancy had committee meetings and other affairs of that nature.

No Longer Young.

For Nancy, no longer young, thirty-four, to be exact—but so beautiful that people always breathed [illegible] when they spoke of her—was as [illegible] as Jerry. She had left her home town years before to go to college, had done settlement work for a time in a big city, was overseas for years and had come back home for more work of this kind, but had to limit it on account of her mother's invalidism.

"I never once had time to think of love before I came back home," Nancy laughed to Tom one evening when the two of them were together at a benefit of the blind.

"Oh," she admitted, her dusky eyes gleaming, "some of the men told me they loved me. But after a little time, when they realized how busy I was, they went away."

"Jerry will not go away," Tom advised her, "not unless you send him."

Then he was aware that Nancy wasn't listening to him at all. She was watching Kyle Hiatt, big and handsome and so full of ego that he was pompous. Kyle, the town's most popular widower, had a "way with women" the other men confessed, "which makes us hardly noticeable when he is present."

Way With Women

"Kyle has a way with the women," Tom told Nancy later that evening. "He has been divorced twice because of affairs he had during both of his brief stretches of married life. He is still having affairs. And he always makes it his business to draw the interest of rich women—who shower him with gifts."

In spite of what Tom said, Nancy fell in love with Kyle. Despite what other men said about him, she continued to give him her time. His roadster took the place of little Jerry's limousine in waiting for her. She was at her home on all evenings they were not at a meeting together, and the whole town was talking about the [illegible] of an early wedding.

"Kyle can't support you," Tom stormed to Nancy with the frankness of a cousin.

"Doesn't need to support me—does he?" Nancy demanded [illegible] back. "Haven't I an income from my father's estate big enough to keep me in comfort?"

After that Tom was still. He shook his head and went around with little Jerry more than ever, little Jerry whose faded blue eyes were more faded than ever before and whose chin trembled when he looked at Nancy. His friends urged him to take a trip around, but he stayed at home. He wasn't going to leave, so long as there was the ghost of a chance left for him to try to win Nancy.

Startling News

Then came the news which startled all Jerry's set. Kyle Hiatt, ladies' man, man of many affairs with women of all sorts of reputations, while away on a visit in another town, had won the love of a nineteen-year-old girl and he was actually going to marry her. It came like a burst of lightning—brought by a woman visiting the [illegible].

"[illegible] I'm going to be a gay, young [illegible] even boasted to Nancy [illegible] showed her the girl's college pin [illegible] "what do you think of that?"

[illegible] good scout [illegible] but went [illegible] her own [illegible] she [illegible] to save her pride, she left the darkened room and called Jerry, and because he was Jerry, and loved Nancy, he came with a rush.

But when she saw the lovelight in his eyes Nancy's heart failed her. She couldn't tell little Jerry, as she had planned, that she would marry [illegible], couldn't do that to save her pride. For then she knew that if Jerry should ever find out that she had done this his heart would [illegible]. At least she thought it would.

Jerry Did Not Wait

But Jerry didn't wait for Nancy to speak. He walked across the [illegible] her hands [illegible] And Nancy [illegible] you would call me."

MEDBURY SAYS

By John P. Medbury

A CLEVELAND woman is suing her husband for divorce because he takes booze to bed with him.

WHEN he was a baby he always went to sleep on a bottle and has never gotten over the habit.

HE wears pajamas with hip pockets.

HE sleeps with a quart of Scotch in one hand and a bottle of gin in the other.

NOT only that, but he sprinkles cracked ice between the blankets to keep the booze cold.

HIS wife woke up the other morning and two of her toes were frozen.

SHE wants to get a divorce and let her husband marry an Eskimo.

SHE complains that her husband drinks in his sleep. He goes to bed sober and wakes up soused.

SHE says that every morning when she wakes up the bed is full of empty bottles.

THE judge told her she ought to be thankful that her husband didn't drink beer and eat pretzels.

OF course no man has a right to take the family hot water bag and keep it filled with ginger ale.

AND nobody can sleep very comfortably while lying on an ice pick.

THIS guy liked to drink in bed because when he got intoxicated there was no chance of falling down.

AND a man can't very well stagger when he's lying flat on his back.

SOMETIMES he would drink standing up and use the foot of the bed for the brass rail.

HE had three alarm clocks going so that he wouldn't sleep too long between drinks.

Babies in Need

Helping Hand Editor:

My wife has been sick and I have been kept from work. The babies are in need of clothes as is my wife. My little boys, 4 and 2 years old, need underwear, pants and stockings and my wife needs house dresses, size 34. The baby is a year old and a few things would be appreciated for her. I do not like to ask help from anyone unless it is really necessary. Thanking you. R. T.

Thanks Donors

Helping Hand Editor:

Just a line to express my thanks to your readers who were so kind to us on Xmas. I wish to thank Mrs. T. of Waltham as I haven't her address and the other kind person who sent us a lovely box. I wish all the readers and everyone in need a happy New Year and I bless the Helping Hand for the joy it gave to us.

MRS. F. F.

Boys Need Clothes

Helping Hand Editor:

A friend of mine is taking care of two children that were left with her to board, but she never received any money from either of them for over six months. My friend has no money outside what she earns herself, but is trying to keep these two little ones with her. One is a boy six years old, the other, also a boy, 18 months old. They both need clothes. Mrs. K. A.

Girl Needs Help

Helping Hand Editor:

I am a young girl of 19 and cannot secure steady employment. My father is dead and my mother is unable to work. I am not working now and my clothes are very shabby. I would be thankful for help of any kind. I wear size 3½ shoe and can fix over clothes. My mother takes size 40 dress and 4½ shoes and very stout.

HARRIET G.

Need Shoes and Clothes

Helping Hand Editor:

I am a poor woman with six children. My husband has no work and we all need shoes and clothes. There are two boys, 11 and 5, and four girls, 6 months, 3, 7 and 9 years old. I wear suit, size 40, and 6 shoe. If someone could give my husband a job, we would be so grateful. He can do painting, also sign painting, and has worked in automobile garages. He wears suit, size 38, shoes 8. Please don't forget us. MRS. G. B.

Must Feed Ten

Helping Hand Editor:

My husband is sick and out of work and my son-in-law is here with us with his wife and baby which makes ten in the family to feed. I am in need of some warm dresses, size 42, and a coat. I have to walk a mile each morning to the river to pick up wood. I hope I am not asking too much.

MRS. B. N. S.

Wants Glide Skates

Helping Hand Editor:

I am a girl of 14. My father is dead and my mother works. I never go anywhere, and if some kind person has a pair of shoe skates, size 4* or 5, I would be so glad to get them. FLORENCE P.

Has no Friends

Helping Hand Editor:

I am about to be discharged from the hospital as good as I ever was. I have no overcoat or shoes. Clothes hardly fit to go on the street. I have no friends or money, and I hope some kind reader will help me to get a start in the world again. I take size 7½ shoes, 32 pants, 40 or 42 overcoat. I would be glad to do any kind of work. I am 29 years old. JAMES D.

BEDTIME STORY

Broadcast Daily Through WNAC

They See a Real Case of Turn Turtle.

By Foxy Grandpa

"I'D certainly like to see one of of those big turtles they talk about so much down here," said Bobby, running away from a wave which nearly caught him as it rolled in from the Atlantic Ocean down on the Florida coast.

So we walked on and Bunny hopped on beside us. Suddenly he stopped stock-still, elevated his ears to their greatest height and twitched his whiskers vigorously.

"What's up?" I asked.

"Feet," replied Bunny.

He gave a leap and a bound and before we knew it he was standing quite a distance ahead of us, beckoning us to hurry.

Needless to say we put on all steam and ran down the beach to where Bunny stood.

What do you think was there, wiggling his funny flappers in the air and stretching his long neck until I thought it must break?

A huge turtle. If he weighed a pound he weighed three hundred. And there the poor fellow was—stranded and on his back and he could not for the life of him right himself.

"Let's turn him over," suggested Bobby, confidently.

"I'll put a stone under this side. Perhaps that will make a lever," said Bunny.

Nothing worked. We were sorry, but we had to give it up as a bad job.

Sadly, we started down the beach and left the poor turtle struggling once more to turn over.

I don't know what made me turn around as we continued our way. But I did. There, coming down the beach and on the beach from the mainland, was turtle after turtle—all making for their comrade who had upset his applecart.

We halted and then retreated—but not too near the seat of operations.

Then I saw something which I shall never forget as long as I live. Those turtles in their strange cumbersome way, approached the turtle in distress and I give you my word they started to work as if they had a plan they were carrying out.

Some of the turtles went on one side and some on the other. How they did it, I can't tell you. But they did. In a very short while, we saw the wrecked turtle turn over, rest a minute and then slowly proceed with his friends into the sea.

"What do you think of that?" I gasped.

"More than we could do," said Bobby.

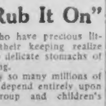

"Remarkable," said I, shaking my head.

"I got a close-up of him, didn't I?" said Bobby, delightedly.

"But imagine them all getting together to do it," I puzzled.

"It is not only in human life," declared Bunny proudly, "that it is believed that 'in union there is strength.'"

"Just Rub It On"

Mothers who have precious little lives in their keeping realize the danger to delicate stomachs of so much dosing.

That is why so many millions of mothers now depend entirely upon Vicks for croup and children's colds.

There is nothing to swallow—you just rub Vicks over throat and chest at bedtime and cover with a warm flannel, leaving the bedclothes loose about the neck so that the arising vapors may be freely inhaled. The child is usually better next morning.

Vicks can be used freely and often with perfect safety, even on the youngest member of the family.

This pencil is famous in history. It was first used by Ben Arnold, who was busily engaged writing his memoirs with it when he was inadvertently hanged. It was later employed by Eddie Cicotte in course of his famous for the "wife and kiddies" series. Afterwards it came into the possession of Pencil. Ford, according to business observers, has already made his mark, and will keep the pencil solely for display purposes.

FINANCE

By B. C. Forbes

A youth entered a large industrial company as junior clerk at $10 a week. He had won the highest honor his university could confer upon him, and had specialized in economics. The first thing he did was to join an evening commercial school. He embraced every opportunity to work overtime and lived so frugally that he saved a considerable part of his modest wage. On successfully completing the commercial course, he next took up the study of law, outside of his working hours, and again finished the course. Meanwhile, he diligently sought to use his commercial and legal knowledge for the benefit of his concern, although his pay was only that of an ordinary clerk.

• • •

But such an employe could not long remain unnoticed. His work proved too much for him. His superiors learned that they could entrust important duties to him in absolute confidence that they would be properly attended to. At twenty-four he was raised from the clerical ranks, and given quite a responsible position. Here his strong sense of business principles and commercial law had scope. Of course, he made good very signally.

• • •

The head of the concern (Western Electric) now took notice of the young man and, with a view to fitting him for bigger things, delegated him to go through a thorough, practical course in the factories. Once again the young man seriously took up a supplementary study, that of electrical engineering, as this knowledge would greatly increase his usefulness. Before long the president chose him as his assistant and found him so valuable that further promotion followed.

• • •

The country's financial centre beckoned to him. After valuable experience, he was asked to take hold of a baby investment organization consisting of four employes. That was nine years ago.

• • •

There is being issued this morning the most extraordinary financial statement in America's business history.

It is the statement of a bank showing resources reaching the unparalleled total of $1,342,870,671.

It shows deposits of $913,042,242.

During last year's record rise resources increased $222,135,[illegible] and deposits $184,442,179.

The bank's net operating profits for the year reached $11,534,429—almost a million dollars a month.

Every foreign branch, without exception, was so operated that it showed a profit.

The institution's capital is being increased $50,000,000. Its surplus to $50,000,000, its undivided profits to fully $10,000,000 and its contingency reserve to more than $6,000,000.

Meanwhile, the baby investment organization has become by far the largest in the United States, its sales of bonds to investors equalling those of its two or three nearest competitors.

The man responsible for these astounding results is the ex-ten-dollar-a-week clerk who so assiduously set out to expand his education notwithstanding that he was already an honor college graduate.

This man is Charles E. Mitchell, president of the National City Bank of New York and president of the National City Company.

Since he first became identified with the City Bank interests, the total market value of the bank's stock was increased tremendously.

Shortly after Frank A. Vanderlip, then head of the City Bank, spotted young Mitchell he said to me, "Mitchell is the most clear-headed man I ever knew in all my business career."

When Mitchell first began to make things hum at the National City Company, I asked him, "How are you doing it?" He replied, "The first duty of the head of an organization of this kind is to keep pumping, pumping, pumping enthusiasm into every member of the force."

One day during the height of the unheaval in 1920, I remarked to Mr. Mitchell, "Those must be strenuous days for you." He immediately snapped back this reply, "I make every day a strenuous day in our shop."

The other day, when I congratulated Mr. Mitchell on the phenomenal growth of the City Bank and its affiliated organizations, I made a remark which brought from him this lesson carrying reply:

"It is just as important to have all the relations inside your organization right as it is to have your relations with your customers and others outside right. We believe that we have the strongest and most enthusiastic corps of officers of any institution in America and now our generous plan for distributing bank stock among all our 8,000 employes is bringing a wonderfully impressive response. We shouldn't be much of an executive who couldn't make a success of what he has in the City Bank to work with—I don't mean only the greatest resources of any financial institution in America but its fine old traditions and unique reputation."

As Mr. Mitchell is only forty-seven, he may live before so very long give America a $2,000,000,000 financial institution and make it the most powerful in the world.

TELEPHONE HAS NEXT TO ITS BEST YEAR

By FRANK H. MELOON,
Financial Editor.

American Telephone in 1924, according to a statement just made by President H. B. Thayer, had next to its best year in a growth of serving, 1923 having set the record in that direction.

"Until near the end of the year the volume of toll and local messages, while showing an increase over 1923, reflected to some extent the rather quiet business conditions," says President Thayer. "We feel that the associated companies are well prepared to meet the demands that will be brought on them on account of the further increase of business activity expected in 1925.

"The net amount of earnings are not yet at hand, but will be set forth in detail in our annual report which will be issued shortly.

"Indications are that the financial results of nearly all of our associated companies will be satisfactory. There are a few cases where a fair return is not being earned, pending rate adjustments which should be completed early in 1925. Company will show for the year, as usual, a substantial margin over dividend requirements."

Some people thought it strange that the new chief executive of New Hampshire, who greeted Governor Fuller at the latter's desk on his first day in office, should be a next door neighbor in the Summer time, both Governors having Summer homes at Little Island Pond in Rye, N. H., a little over half a hundred miles from Boston.

These people evidently didn't know Rye, which has entertained annually a host of dignitaries, Governors and otherwise, since even before the "head of the Board" was put into poetry by Whittier from his nearby "Tent on the Beach."

What has struck the writer as more strange is that Governor Fuller has never been exploited in the press as a farmer, notwithstanding the fact that his Governor's herd at Rye will compare favorable with any the world over. Some of the cattle have recently been shipped direct from the Isle of Guernsey, the Eden of that family of cattledom.

PROFIT-TAKING EASES PRICES IN NEW YORK

Profit taking caused slight recessions in stock prices at the opening of today's New York market, with selling directed principally against the oil shares.

Rails were also worked lower, Denver & Rio Grande preferred dropping more than a point, and New York Central and Chesapeake & Ohio yielding fractionally. Radio was a notable exception, advancing a point.

Call money started at 3 per cent. Later Bosch sold up over a point and American Can was off over a point from Thursday's closing. U. S. Steel was slightly shaded.

In Boston Stock Exchange trading Amoskeag sold off a point from its extreme gain, profit taking, following Thursday's spectacular advance of more than 5 points, affecting Consolidated New England textile conditions. Westinghouse also sold a point under the opening.

Most Boston changes were for fractions only.

15 IN DEBUT AT BALL OF NOEMI SOCIETY

Event in Hotel Somerset Is Notable; $500,000 Charity Drive Nears End

Dame Fashion displayed herself in dazzling brilliancy when fifteen smiling buds took the centre of the floor and gracefully bowed to their parents, friends and admirers at the annual ball of the Noemi Society in the Hotel Somerset.

Carolyn Lowenstein, Sally Freedman, Irene Gatty, Sylvia Feibelman, Blanche Noyes, Pauline Nemser, Frieda Goldstein, Eunice Herman, Shirley Tusben, Estelle Grossman, Nathalie Linsky, Mildred Chase, Miriam Lowenstein, Mildred Siskind, Mildred Tishler were introduced.

The officers of the ball were as follows: Mrs. Florence Jacobs, floor marshal; assistants, Mrs. Bertha [illegible], Mrs. Rose Sedlis and Mrs. [illegible] Wingersky; Mrs. Belle T. Shulman, chairman; Mrs. Dora Marrynson, assistant chairman; Mrs. Pauline Goldberg, secretary; Mrs. Carrie [illegible], treasurer; Mrs. Jeanette Dan[illegible], publicity.

"What is federation? It is a chain of fifteen links, each link representing a different appeal," said Alexander Brin, editor and publisher, in an address on the work of the Federated Jewish Charities of Boston, now campaigning to raise $500,000, before a large gathering of women at a meeting of the Jewish Children's Society.

"It provides for every possible contingency for the needy from the cradle to the grave. We have the orphans who must be taken care of; the incurables and cripples for whom comfort must be provided; the delinquents and the dependents for whom we must assume responsibility," he continued.

"We must provide for the Jewish education of these children whose parents cannot afford to pay for it. Hospitals must be provided for the sick of our people. Each one of these represents a link in our Federation."

The Junior Council of the Beth Hamidrash Hagodol, Crawford Street Synagogue, will be host to the Boston Branch, Young People's League, United Synagogues of America, at a special joint meeting tonight in the vestry of the synagogue on Crawford street.

LARGEST EVENING CIRCULATION IN NEW ENGLAND

In addition to teaching resident students the University of New Hampshire is developing rapidly its function of carrying information and assistance in agriculture and home economics into all parts of the State.

One of New Hampshire towns, Durham, is the home of a prosperous industry. General ... made his home here during the Revolutionary War.

How One Hundred Minute Men at Durham Are Carrying the University to the Farm

ALTHOUGH AN OLD SAYING admonishes us not to count our chickens before they are hatched, we know that substantially 1,000,000 chickens, shortly to crack their way through egg-shells in the State of New Hampshire, will come into the world free from blemish.

They will be hatched, thanks to the good work of one of the departments of the university at Durham, from disease-free flocks.

Each and every chick in the lot, if he had voice and vote, could call upon the authorities at Concord for a certificate bearing the great seal of the State and testifying to his "100 per centness."

At first thought, the connection between a great and growing State university and the perfect health of 1,000,000 Rhode Island Reds, Barred Rocks, White Leghorns and White Wyandottes might appear, to say the least, somewhat remote, but the fact is that the present promising condition of the poultry business in New Hampshire is due, to some extent, at all events, to the zealous interest of men and women connected with the institution at Durham and the splendid spirit of co-operation between farm and faculty which has been developed within the past few years.

In addition to its function of teaching resident students, the University of New Hampshire performs a service of direct importance to the people of the State by carrying information and assistance in agriculture and home economics into the various counties through its Extension Service, and by conducting research investigations in agriculture through its Experiment Station.

For the last twelve years the institution, through its Extension Service, has served more and more thoroughly the local communities and farm homes of the State.

The service includes county agent work, boys' and girls' club work, home-demonstration-agent work, and the service of specialists in the various fields of agriculture.

The staff now consists of thirty-two persons who conduct demonstrations in soils and crops, dairy improvement, poultry husbandry, fruit culture, forestry, food and health, clothing, home improvement and what may be described as allied subjects.

Twenty-four of the workers have their headquarters in the ten counties of the Granite State, keeping in close and constant touch with the university and the resident Extension staff. Back of them is the entire staff of the institution at Durham, numbering approximately one hundred experts.

More than 7,000 New Hampshire farmers are identified in one way or another with this Extension work—1,000 of them are members of Extension committees—and about 2,000 boys and girls are enrolled in junior Extension clubs.

Last year, the work was carried into 223 towns and villages.

What all this means is that the teachings of the college, and the findings of the experiment station and the United States Department of Agriculture, are now being carried to farms and homes throughout New Hampshire by a regularly established force of field workers. Each of the ten counties has an agricultural agent; eight counties have home demonstration agents; six counties have boys' and girls' club agents.

The work of the Extension Service is performed largely through Farm Bureaus, of which there is one in each county. These bureaus are composed of farmers and the women of the farms. As far as possible the work is conducted along lines requested BY THE PEOPLE IT IS DESIGNED TO HELP.

To place any just estimate upon the value of such service, to a State or to the nation, would be extremely difficult. It is recognized today, as never before, perhaps, that upon the prosperity of the farmer depends quite largely the general prosperity of all classes. The high cost of living has done a lot to attract the attention of the people to the relation which the farmer and HIS interests bear to them personally.

The production of more and better chicks, as the reader will understand, of course, is no more than a DETAIL of this important work. Equally helpful and intelligent work has been conducted in lime demonstrations, in the home mixing of fertilizers, in legume demonstrations, variety tests, seed improvement, fighting the potato blight, in orchard management, elimination of insect pests and plant diseases, dairy improvement, farm management, co-operative marketing and community improvement.

But certainly the building up of disease-free flocks must be regarded as a work of tremendous importance, not only to poultrymen, but to their patrons, near and far.

Before the field agents and the staff men back home at Durham began their work among the poultry farms of New Hampshire a disorder identified as white diarrhea killed off New Hampshire chickens every year literally by the thousands.

Just as the herds of the dairyman have been tested for tuberculosis for several years, however, so now are the flocks of the poultrymen tested for this formerly devastating trouble. The result is that the evil has been eliminated to such an extent that at the present writing there is not a known case of the kind in the State of New Hampshire.

Last year, again, the Extension Service was credited with saving to the farm families of New Hampshire, in the one item of clothing alone, no less than $28,000. This through the instruction or by the aid of the home demonstration agents.

If the plant in historic old Durham may be said to consist of (1) the University proper, (2) the Agricultural Experiment Station and (3) the Extension Service, the fact is that a fourth great division of the work has grown up out of the conception of trustees, president and faculty of the true relation between such a State institution and the people of the State.

It is the duty of THIS institution, in the view of the men responsible for its continued growth and great success, to get behind any and every constructive work going on in New Hampshire.

When Summer comes, and the great majority of the resident students leave town, the University of New Hampshire is practically turned over to the people.

There is, first of all, a Health Institute, under the auspices of the State Board of Health. This brings together the health officers of the State and all the public health nurses, together with as many physicians and other nurses as care to join them. This series of meetings may continue for the larger part of two weeks.

Then, the State Library Association comes to Durham, for the annual session of its Library School. Here the librarians and assistant librarians of New Hampshire receive such inspiration and instruction as enables them to do better work for their communities.

The BIG week of the Summer season, however, is put on by the Extension Service, which calls it "Farmers' and Home-makers' Week."

For the men, one day for each of the principal divisions of agriculture, a Poultry Day, a Dairy Day, a Horticultural Day, and so on.

For the women, Health Day, Dress Making Day, Education Day,

WORKERS FOR NEW HAMPSHIRE

THOSE BEYOND THE REACH OF CLASS-ROOMS

The University of New Hampshire includes a College of Liberal Arts, a College of Technology and a College of Agriculture. It is closely related to the public school system of the State, continuing the work of the high school, and is the only university in New Hampshire open to both men and women. Its first class, that of 1868, had ten members, all men. This year, there is a total enrollment of 1,220, of whom 987 are men and 323 women.

In accord with the origin and function of this university its courses are ESSENTIALLY PRACTICAL, leading directly to the student's preparation for a successful life.

What colleges and universities are to the young men and young women who come within their walls, the extension service is, only to a lesser degree, to the thousands who are beyond the reach of class-rooms.

With a special corps of thirty-two men and women, plus all the other facilities of the University, the Extension Service at Durham is carrying its work in an intimate way to a much larger public.
